In Mexico must fight for the possession of Vera Cruz.

The state department announced today that there will be no bombardment of Vera Cruz verifying THE TRIBUNE'S executive story that the Diaz-Aguilar contingent, who had captured Vera Cruz, must go out to fight against the federal general, Huerta.

The principle on which the battle is to be fought outside of the city walls was first introduced into international politics by the United States.

On Oct. 19, the United States landed marines at San Domingo and ordered the rebels to leave the city.

Johnson is charged with the abduction of Luisa Camion, a beautiful young woman, aged 18.

TRY REVOKE LICENSE.

Mayor Harrison today announced that if sufficient evidence is placed in his hands he will at once revoke Johnson's license.

"Johnson is described as a negro with a mustache, and in case against Jeanette Dorr, who is charged with conspiracy to violate the Mann Act, I will act upon that and close his resort immediately," said Mayor Harrison.

Indicating the popular feeling regarding the case, a crowd of about forty young men today suspended an effigy in front of the polling place of the Twenty-third precinct of the Twenty-first ward. Across the breast of the effigy was a placard bearing the name of Jack Johnson, and around it were the words "Down with Johnson."

The state department declared that there would be no bombardment of San Domingo City. The rebels went out and the marines took possession of the hills while the battle was fought to a finish.

ATTACK ON CAPITAL.

An interesting suggestion is made at the state department that what applies to Vera Cruz will apply to Mexico City when the rebels under Diaz Aguilar and Zapata appear before it in a combined attack. Another capital will be established and the affairs of the republic settled there.

The Des Moines was caught by wireless last night at Progreso, Honduras, and has been sent back full steam to Vera Cruz. She will arrive there about noon tomorrow.

The Tacoma is on the way to Tampico from Bluefields. These vessels will still be a necessity if anything goes wrong with the new rules for new and safe fighting in Mexico.

PREPARES FOR ATTACK.

EL PASO Oct. 19.—Juarez is preparing for its sixth attack, which is expected next Tuesday.

The arrival of a shipment of ammunition addressed to the Mexican government caused the new Diaz leader to anticipate the outbreak by almost a week and he captured Vera Cruz before the border ports could be attacked.

In El Paso everything is in readiness for the invasion.

INFANT FOUND ON DOORSTEP

Baby Boy Wrapped in Blanket Is Discovered by Passerby.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—A three-day-old baby boy was found wrapped in a blanket on the doorstep at the home of John T. Olson, 18 Castro street, at 10 o'clock tonight by Bert Schlesinger, who was on his way to visit A. F. Cook at the latter's home, 78 Castro street. Cook suggested sending the infant to the Central Emergency hospital, which was done.

COST OF LIVING IS GOING DOWN

Crest of High Price Wave Is Reached, Says President Taft.

FIELD. On October 1st, 1911, the value of the crops was $4,868,000,000.

There is therefore nothing to be feared from lack of prosperity due to the inability of the farmer to buy what he needs or desires.

CONSUMER SAVES MONEY.

This year's wheat crop is nearly 100,000,000 bushels larger than it was last year and already a high grade of Mexican flour is costing at the mills 80 cents less a barrel than it did a year ago. This will effect a saving of $108,000,000.

The corn crop, for the first time in the history of the country, exceeds 2,000,000,000 bushels, amounting to 26 per cent. more than last year.

Second only to corn, the hay crop affects the price of meats. This year the hay crop amounts to 72,000,000 tons, as compared with 55,000,000 tons a year ago.

The potato crop this year has increased 37 per cent. over last year, and the decreased price of potatoes will alone effect a saving of nearly $100,000,000.

The President has also received reports indicating a reduction in the cost of other food staples, as for instance sugar, which is reported to have fallen 1 1/2 cents a pound as compared with the price prevalent October 1st, 1911.

COLLIER GIVES AWAY JEWELS

San Diegan Surprises the New Yorkers by Generously Scattering Gems.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Colonel D. C. Collier of San Diego, who is in this city escorting the Brazilian delegation to the Panama-California Exposition to the Pacific Coast, gives away jewels instead of visiting cards. He is stopping in the Hotel Astor and has made many friends.

Today he gave several men gems instead of visiting cards, but he does that only when he feels that the acquaintance is worth while. He is said to have exhausted a big supply of jewels.

Collier owns many miles of railroad, several banks and a few mines in which the jewels, which are chiefly turquoises and tourmalines, are produced.

Collier laughed when a reporter asked him about his hobby. "If I bought a man a drink or a luncheon, he would think nothing of it and would forget me as soon as I was out of his sight," said he. "But when he gets a jewel to wear in a scarfpin or charm he'll think of me every time he looks at it."

BOTTLE TRAVELS FROM LOUISVILLE TO SAN DIEGO

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 19.—Throwing a tightly corked bottle, containing her name and address, Miss Anna Lee of 10 East Grey Street, did not hear from it until today when she learned that it had been picked up off San Diego, Cal.

The finder, Charles Collins of 504 Phillips street, Toledo, Ohio, sent Miss Lee the slip of paper she had put in the bottle, saying he had fished it out of Coronado bay, while on a visit to California. Captain John F. C. Hedgpeth, U. S. A. (retired) of Louisville, will make a report to the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, believing the bottle passed down the Ohio into the Mississippi, through the Gulf of Mexico, then across the Atlantic, Indian and Pacific Oceans before it was finally washed up on the coast of California.

SON MARRIES SECRETLY TO ESCAPE DAD'S JOKES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—When W. H. Hanlon, manager of the Hotel Sacramento, was told in Sacramento tonight that his son, Harry Hanlon, was registered at the St. Francis Hotel as "Harry Hanlon and wife," Hanlon Jr. laughed heartily.

Then he said: "I suspected as much.

Harry told me that he wanted to go away for a few days. He told his mother that he was going to be married, but he didn't tell me."

"He was afraid that I would play a practical joke on him, such as telephoning all the county clerks within reach not to give him a marriage license without "my express, written approval."

The couple were wedded here today.

Colonel S. C. Clark, his bride, is Miss Anna Clark, daughter of William Clark, former mayor of Stockton. Their engagement was announced some time ago.

LOOKED TOO LONG ON PRETTY PAIR OF ANKLES

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—It will be months ago that Captain George W. Gray, Union veteran of the Civil War and expert on feminine beauty, will again attempt to pose as a judge of a lady's ankle.

His first attempt landed him in a cell overnight, and although he was honorably discharged in the Harlem court, the gallant captain looked very sheepish as he faced Magistrate Harriman. Captain Gray was arrested, charged with the larceny of a gold watch and $81, upon the complaint of Mrs. Mary Bell, of 817 West One Hundred and Sixty-ninth street, who said that while the captain was judging between the beauty of her ankle curves as compared with those of her friend, Mrs. Israel Hall, of One Hundred and Sixty-fifth street, and Edgewood avenue, the watch and money which he had in his stockings were stolen. For trial the magistrate had found the lost articles in the kitchen of her home.

GETS HUNTING INSTEAD OF MARRIAGE LICENSE

REDWOOD CITY, Oct. 19.—A marriage which was to have taken place at noon today in Redwood City was postponed because the bridegroom thoroughly obtained a hunting license in place of a marriage license from County Clerk John Nash.

But for this mistake Mrs. Gabriel Rivera, a charming widow, would have been the bride of Gabriel Garcia, a well-known business man of Redwood City, when the church bells struck 12.

TO LAY SIEGE TO ADRIANOPOLE

Balkan Forces Hope to Join in Struggle to Capture the City.

means of transportation to Adrianople, and by the time the Bulgars are ready to attack will have an army of 150,000 men occupying strategical points in and about the city.

About 200,000 Bulgarian troops are fighting their way toward Adrianople. A formidable Turkish force has crossed the Bulgarian line behind the enemy and is advancing on Sofia, the Bulgarian capital. Another force is reported tonight as marching on Philippopolis through Thrush.

Recovering quickly from the fright caused by the crash of the inkwell, Johnson announced:

"They can't hurt me; I am greater than the President of the United States, because I am champion of the world."

With Johnson at the time were four negroes and two white men who helped to protect his bodyguard and retainers. Before they had left the vicinity the bodyguard had to fight his way through the crowd to make a safe passage for the negro.

The report that the Serbs had captured Pristina is denied.

Turkish bands today crossed the Servian line from the Novi Bazar district, massacred the inhabitants of three towns near Krushevaz and retired.

HOLY WAR DECLARED.

In a war manifesto issued today King Peter of Servia declares a holy war of liberation for all Christians living under Turkish rule. He describes the condition of Servians in Turkey as "intolerable," condemns the "tyranny" of the Young Turks, and calls upon his people to "help drive the Turk out of Europe."

The Montenegrin army has been repulsed at Lake Scutari. General Essed Pasha has assumed command of the Turkish force operating against the Montenegrins and turned the tide of battle. Ten thousand Albanian tribesmen have joined his army and the augmented force has taken up a new position north of Scutari.

The Greeks are meeting with encouraging success. The main force of the army has crossed the Turkish frontier without resistance and is operating well into the enemy's country.

According to a despatch from Athens, the Greeks will make their objective point Saloniiki, the capture of which would enable them to threaten the Turkish forces in the direction of Uskub and Scutari and also bring them within marching distance of Adrianople and the Bulgarian army.

The Athens war authorities believe it will be possible for the Greeks, Serbs and Bulgars to combine their forces at Adrianople and advance on Constantinople, while the Greek fleet will attempt the passage of the Dardanelles and shell Constantinople from the sea of Marmora.

TO PROTECT CHRISTIANS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 19.—Turkish successes in their engagements with the Servians and Montenegrin troops were reported today in special dispatches from Saloniiki and Uskub, but the details are very meager.

Strict orders have been issued by the civil and military authorities in Rumelia to insure the safety of the Christian population. Those proved guilty by court martial of attacking peaceful inhabitants are to be sentenced to death.

The minister of war in a proclamation to the army today exhorts the Turkish troops to do their duty and declares that their enemies are of inferior military address and valor.

Besides courage, he said, the Turkish officers should give an example to their men of respect for the laws of humanity. He declares the government possesses absolute confidence in final victory.

WAR IS CELEBRATED.

PODGORITZ, Montenegro, Oct. 19.—The Turkish port of Tarakesh on Lake Scutari and other places in the vicinity were bombarded yesterday by the Montenegrin troops. The declaration of war against Turkey by the other Balkan states was celebrated at a dinner during which all the Balkan ministers drank toasts to the health of King Nicholas and the Montenegrin army.

FORMAL NOTICE EXPECTED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The acting secretary of state said today that the state department had not received a request for neutrality as between Turkey and Greece in the Balkan war. Such a request is expected. A formal reply will be made to it.

The action of the United States in the war of the present character is that it shall issue a proclamation of neutrality, which is merely intended to call the attention of the citizens of the United States to laws which are on the statute books of the United States and to warn American citizens that if they interfere between the warring nations they will do so at their own risk.

Then he said: "I suspected as much.

Dr. Chin-Tao-Chen went on to say that the Chinese individually and as a nation present today a great market for Europe and the United States. This country is the favored one with the Chinese, he said, the people preferring its goods, its fashions, and the American cocktail and other drinks.

It was appropriate, he said, that the University of California introduce the distinguished Chinese. Dr. Wheeler reminded those present that three of the nine members of the Chinese provisional cabinet claimed the University of California as their alma mater.

SOCIAL WORKERS OUTLINE PLANS

Club of Central California
Holds Meeting at Roof Garden.

"Needed Amendments to the Probation Laws" was the subject of animated discussion at the meeting of the Social Workers' club of Central California yesterday afternoon at Captain's Roof Garden. Nearly sixty social workers from Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley and San Francisco were present. Mr. O. F. Snedigar of the Oakland Probation office, acted as chairman.

Assistant Probation Officer S. Bruce Wright of Oakland declared that the present custom of having the wife swear to the complaint against her husband in failure-to-provide cases made it almost impossible to reconcile the husband and wife and do constructive work in rebuilding a shattered family. The suggestion was made by Judge Ogden of the Oakland Juvenile court that indictments in such cases should be returned by the grand jury to avoid such situations. Judge Ogden held that the juvenile court law as a whole would need but slight amendment.

Assistant Probation Officer Robert Tyson of the Oakland Probation office, argued that the least period of adult probation should be two years, so that police court probation might be more successful. He stated that the present six months period of probation is too short in which to reform a man, either to do away with bad habits or to bring up new ones. In cases of embezzlement and petit larceny, six months, he said, is too short a time in which to make restitution. Assistant Probation Officer W. H. Nicholl of San Francisco was also in favor of giving police judges, in some respects, more power.

FOR MOTHERS' PROTECTION.
Miss Lucy Osgood White, president of the League for the Protection of Motherhood, presented the case for the so-called widows' pension bill which will be offered at the coming Legislature, saying that the bill is almost without opposition throughout the state.

Miss Ethel Moore, of the Oakland Probation commission, urged the social workers to work and work earnestly for the initiative amendment for the restoration of race track gambling in California, which, she said, is so ingeniously and deceptively worded that one would think at first reading that its purpose was the opposite. She declared that if adopted it would make California the all-year-round resort of the sports of the whole country and add immensely to the number of criminals and dependents.

The next session of the club will be held in November in San Francisco. Chairman of committee, Mrs. W. W. announced by Probation Officer Christopher Russel, manager of the club, as follows: Program, Mrs. Frances C. Elwerman; survey, Professor Jessima Belotti; law enforcement, Miss Jessie J. Wood; legislation, Mrs. H. R. Rowell and courtesies, Mrs. A. S. Lavenon.

FIRE IN "THE BARROWS" STARTLES OCCUPANTS

Residents of The Barrows apartments, at 1109 Oak street, were thrown into confusion last evening about 7 o'clock, when several companies of the fire department arrived on the scene to extinguish a blaze in the chimney. The flames started in the chimney and in the room, but were placed under control without having caused much damage.

LODGING HOUSE IN DANGER OF FLAMES

Awnings Plant Burns and Adjoining Buildings Have a Narrow Escape.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 19.—The Santa Clara valley fruit crop for the year have reached larger proportions than for many years, according to packers interviewed. Every crop, with the exception of the prunes, has exceeded that of last year, both in size and quality of the fruit.

A moderate estimate by a large fruit dealer gives the valley prune crop at 100,000,000 pounds, or 50,000 tons. This is about one thousand carloads. This estimate is, of course, made on dried fruit.

This is in comparison with a crop weighing 115,000,000 pounds dry, last year. The sizes of the prunes, however, have run up the same, although, in the opinion of many, they have not been as even as last year.

The price of prunes on the average is $80 per ton which would bring the value of the entire valley prune crop to $4,000,000. This is a safe estimate. Lack of moisture during the pruning season is blamed for the smaller prune crop, and the condition of the prunes is blamed upon the week of rain during August. Most of the foreign shipments, as has been the case for many years, are going to Germany for distribution, although France, England and the Scandinavian countries are receiving many carloads.

Approximately 60 per cent of the prune crop has been sold or contracted for to date, and the prospects are that the whole crop will be gobblled up in the spring. The San Francisco Pacific reports that the prunes are moving about the same as last year, and that the other fruits are moving faster.

The crop of apricots has been very large and has been sold out to the growers, who are dryers. About 18,000 tons of dried 'coots' are on the market this year, and they are of good size and quality.

The price of dried 'coots' this season averages $1.25 per lb., or $170 per ton. The price for the total crop, then, is probably about $8,000,000, an enormous sum and much larger than last year's estimate.

The peach crop, which is not selling as fast as the 'coot' crop, reached about 40,000 tons, the best crop in years. The price is the same as that of prunes, $80 per ton, at which price the value of the crop is about $2,000,000, slightly more than the 'coots'.

It is sold by packers that about 100,000 tons of dried fruit has been put on the market from this year's crop. This is an immense amount of fruit, and is well above the average.

One packing house alone, shipped out this year 176 carloads of cherries, plums and pears, all fresh fruit. This house handles no other fruits than those named.

The apple crop is one of the biggest ever raised in the Santa Clara valley and, although not as large as in 1911, is still the largest in the world. The valley, which is mostly in the neighborhood of Alviso, 80,000 apples are being dried, as are some of the pears, but most of the fruit is being shipped fresh or put into cold storage.

Native Daughters and Sons
Will Assemble to Discuss Rebuilding.

LETHBRIDGE, Alberta, Canada, Oct. 19.—The International Dry Farming Congress, which opened here today, promises to be the most notable deliberation on agricultural interests ever held on the American continent. Lethbridge is crowded to its capacity by distinguished men and women from all parts of the world, some of the delegates having come from India.

In this distinguished gathering may be seen a score or more of governors of western and southern states; representatives from many of the leading educational institutions of America, Canada and other countries; distinguished diplomats, including Premier Borden and eminent men of finance, such as James J. Hill, a native Canadian.

The sessions of the congress will last seven days, during which time every question pertaining to farming and all its allied interests, which perhaps include about everything, will be discussed by various experts and other eminent speakers.

During the progress of the congress there will be a social gathering on Saturday evening, October 26, at the Hotel Alberta, assisted by many brothers, on the eve of the opening of the congress.

The Judaeans of Oakland announced that they will hold a bazaar and fair November 8, 9, and 10, and preparations are being made for a grand time for all their friends. CITY TO REJECT COMPANY'S OFFER Counter Proposition of Spring Valley Not Looked Upon With Favor by Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—The city officials today virtually rejected the terms of the counter proposition which the Spring Valley Water company made to the city for the sale of its plant.

A meeting of the supervisors was held at which it was agreed that the special water committee, composed of Mayor James Ralph, Judge Curtis Lindsey and City Attorney F. V. Young, should reply to the Spring Valley company that the city cannot consent to the purchase of the company's property for $28,000,000 after eliminating the 2,000 acres around Lake Merced which the company wishes to retain.

LETTER TO BE DRAFTED.

The letter that is to be drafted will explain that the supervisors feel that the utility of Lake Merced as an emergency source of water supply for the city would be too greatly impaired by diverting so much of the surrounding land to home sites or any other purpose not directly connected with a water system.

The officials say that after a careful scrutiny of the inventory of the lands and rights of the Spring Valley company they may be able to find other properties which may be of little value to the city as a part of the water system but would be valuable to the company as an offset to the demand for the Lake Merced lands.

REITERATE OFFER.

The administration reiterates its hope that some amicable agreement may be reached at once, so that the city may begin at once to make such extensions in its water system as will provide for the growth of the outlying districts. And in conclusion they call upon the Spring Valley company again to accept the terms of the offer made by the city August 9.

The counter-proposition of the water company was made to exclude the Merced lands, and the company demanded a reply on the attitude of the administration by October 20, tomorrow.

Positively You Can Be Plump

Free 50-Cent Package of a Most Remarkable Flesh Builder That Futs On 30 Pounds in 30 Days.

The results will be astounding to all who are thin.

Don't Look Like a Lamp Post.

Never has anything produced such wonderful results as the new flesh builder, Protone. Thin, anaemic, pale-faced, thin-skinned, tired, aching, bony men and women take on a most remarkable new lease of life.

The hollow places fill out, the nerves are reinvigorated with healthy covering, the muscles plump up with natural flesh, the eyes lose that hungry pleading expression, and you feel better and stronger in every part of the body. The secret is in the fact that Protone corrects the faults of assimilation. Your food is converted into the kind of blood that makes solid flesh. Your entire system becomes greedy for this new, rich, red material.

The people are often hearty eaters, but the blood is thin. The substantial elements don't get into the system but pass along without being assimilated. But Protone has the most remarkable effect of arousing intestinal absorption of food elements and it is nothing unusual for this men and women to gain weight a pound a day.

Health is restored, Nature takes care of this, for when the natural weight has been attained, the surplus is converted into waste and thrown out through the excretaries of the body.

The regular $1.00 size of Protone is for sale at all druggists, or will be mailed direct, upon receipt of price, by The Protone Co., 4428 Protone Bldg., Detroit.

ISTHMUS TRAFFIC ALREADY TREBLED

Government Reports Show the Growth of Travel Across Panama.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Commerce between the eastern and western coasts of the United States by way of the Isthmus of Panama and Tehuantepec just compiled by the division of statistics of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and Labor show that during the eight months ending August 31, 1912, merchandise shipped from the United States to the noncontiguous territories amounted to $74,000,000 in value against $61,000,000 in the same month of last year; and the merchandise received from these territories amounted to $97,500,000 in value against $50,500,000 in the corresponding months of last year. This showing of an increase of 20 per cent in the single year gives assurance that the total value of this trade in the current calendar year will reach and probably exceed $260,000,000 in value.

The gain in the trade with the noncontiguous territories has been far greater than that in the trade with foreign countries. The figures of 1912 will exceed by 100 per cent those of a decade ago, while the trade with foreign countries for the same period shows a gain of approximately 75 per cent.

The first year in which accurate trade figures with all of the noncontiguous territories were available was 1902, ended June 30, 1903.

Prior to that time no official data was procurable of the trade with Alaska, and figures were refused by those engaged in the trade with Hawaii and Porto Rico after their annexation to the United States and established as customs districts.

This condition was, however, remedied by an act of Congress which required statements of this traffic to be made in terms similar to those in which the trade with foreign countries is shown, and in consequence of this action of Congress, figures have been available since 1903. These figures show that the trade with Porto Rico in 1903 amounted to about $3,000,000 in value, while in 1912 it will amount to about $75,000,000, or more than three times as much as a decade ago.

The trade with Hawaii in the year ended June 30, 1903, was $37,000,000 in value, and in the calendar year 1912 all amounts of about $5,000,000, an increase of over 100 per cent in a decade. With the Philippines, the trade in 1908 was $16,000,000 in value, and in the calendar year 1912 will reach to about $45,000,000, having trebled in the last four years.

The trade with Alaska in 1908 was about $20,000,000 in value and in the calendar year 1912 promises to be about $45,000,000, an increase of approximately 125 per cent in the same period.

Manufactures form the bulk of the noncontiguous territories in 1912, and sugar, which is received from Alaska, is the principal article forming the $140,000,000 worth of merchandise received from the territories in 1912.

Sugar forms the bulk of the ports by way of the Isthmus was, in the fiscal year 1908, $19,750,000, of which about $18,832,000 passed by way of the Tehuantepec road. In the scale year 1912 this total had grown to practically $55,000,000, of which a little less than $45,000,000 crossed by the Tehuantepec line.

Practically all of the sugar sent from Hawaii to the eastern coast of the United States goes by way of Tehuantepec and forms considerably more than one-half of the eastward movement of domestic merchandise from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast by way of the Tehuantepec road; while merchandise from the eastern coast bound for the Hawaiian Islands forms approximately 10 per cent of the westward movement of domestic merchandise across the Tehuantepec line.

The character of articles forming this large traffic between the eastern and western coasts by way of the Isthmus of Panama is shown by a table issued by the Division of Statistics of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and Labor.

This table shows that of the $12,250,000 worth of merchandise passing from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast in July and August, 1912, iron and steel manufactures amounted to over $8,000,000, cotton manufactures to nearly $3,000,000, and the remainder miscellaneous articles in large variety, chiefly manufactures. The merchandise from the Pacific coast destined to the Atlantic ports includes, as above indicated, sugar from the Hawaiian Islands, forming about one-half of the total of $8,000,000 during the two months ended August 31, 1912; the remainder being chiefly fruits, canned vegetables, canned salmon, wool, copper ore and wine.

PLAN DEEP WATER PORT FOR SAN JOSE

SAN JOSE, Oct. 19.—For $100,000 the government will be able to dig a deep water channel at Alviso, after proper docking arrangements have been made.

This is the gist of the advice given to Joint San Jose committees interested in the project of getting a terminal railroad rates by procuring a deep-water port by F. H. Emerson, first lieutenant of the corps of engineers who inspected the harbor site and later addressed a meeting of the committee at the chamber of commerce.

It is expected that McCarlton, city engineer, will finish his survey of a strip of land between here and Alviso in two days and that petitions for an annexation election will then be circulated immediately.

Religion and Medicine cannot do him as much good as if he had a wavering faith.

The mind has a wonderful influence over the body, those who believe that a loving Father controls the destiny of mankind see a great deal better prepared to meet the vicissitudes of life and to overcome disease than the one who has no such faith. A truly religious man makes a better patient than an irreligious man.

In using the word religion I am not referring to any particular kind of religion. The Jew and the gentile, the Catholic and the Protestant, each have a religion which they believe. They also agree in this essential.

A religious man may believe that it is necessary for him to use every means in his power to get well. He may believe that it is perfectly proper for him to employ doctors and take medicines. But he also believes that when he has done the best he can there is a higher power that has charge of his affairs, that absolute justice will be done him, that absolute justice will be done a good man. He goes forward with confidence, sick or well, rich or poor, and gets a great deal more comfort out of life than the man who has no religion.

I have found myself saying many times to people who have a chronic ailment, "You need religion as well as medicine. You need faith in an overruling providence that guides everything to wise ends, that the affliction of disease teaches a lesson that every one should strive to learn."

This does not mean that sick people are to sit down and trust that an overruling providence will do everything. Nothing of the sort. It is to use remedies, to take the best possible care in the use of them, to have the belief that all things will come out right. Any medicine has a better chance to cure a man who holds such a faith.

Some men are so faithless and unbelieving, so restless and desperate, their minds so unsettled, that even the best of medicine has little chance to do them any good. Therefore I say that religion is often quite as necessary as medicine, that the want of religion frequently defeats the action of the best medicine.

Many a chronic invalid has searched in vain for a medical remedy, simply because he has lost his grip on religion, the religion that not only provides salvation in the world to come, but soundness of body and mind in the world that is.

Yes, there is a most intimate relation between medicine and religion. Other things being equal, the irreligious man stands a poor chance of getting well when he is sick, while the religious man frequently gets well in the most astonishing way after the doctors have all given him up to die. With a religious faith, a good religion and an obedient use of the right remedy a great many hopeless invalids could be restored to perfect health.

Well, you have made it clear as to what you mean by religion. But what is the remedy you would recommend?

Of course I would recommend different remedies for different conditions. But the particular remedy that I am interested in at this time, the remedy that meets more chronic ailments than any other remedy I know of is Peruna. Peruna is a remedy for that invidious group of ailments that are dependent upon catarrhal derangements. I am furnishing a book on catarrhal diseases which I send to any person free. In this book I explain quite fully the uses of Peruna. Those who do not care to wait to send for the booklet at this time will find information and instruction as to the general uses of Peruna explained within the wrapper of each bottle.

Pe-ru-na, Man-a-lin and La-en-pla manufactured by the Pe-ru-na Company, Columbus, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores.

SPECIAL NOTICE:—Many persons inquire for The Old-time Peruna. They want the Peruna that their Fathers and Mothers used to take. The old Peruna is now called Katarno. FOREIGN CAPITAL GOES INTO CUBA

The improvement of Port of Havana is important public work.

If the year 1911 was an uneventful one in a business way in Cuba, reports Consul-General James S. Roberts, of Havana, it was marked by the steady inflow of foreign capital for investment in sugar cane and grazing lands, for amplification of banking and industrial capital, and for the encouragement of many enterprises upon which foreigners have embarked in Cuba. This seemed to indicate entire confidence in the ultimate development of Cuba's prosperity.

The most important public works of the year were those in connection with the improvement of the ports and the construction of adequate docks in Havana. Government projects such as the sewering and paving of Havana, similar work for Cienfuegos, the reclamation of swamp lands by the Roque canal, irrigation surveys, and the construction of a few roads, proceeded with more or less celerity.

The severe climatic disturbances which in 1909 and 1910 created such havoc were absent last year. This gain, however, was offset to some extent by the severe drought which obtained for a considerable period of the midyear, followed by an excess of rain in the late autumn, and thus doing great damage to plantings of sugar cane and tobacco.

The abundance of money produced by the great sugar output of the 1910 season was primarily responsible for the increase in the values of imports last year over 1910, since purchases of machinery for sugar mills, luxuries of various kinds, and extra necessities of life naturally followed, but a close analysis of the import trade can not fail to cause surprise, first as to the purchasing power of such a small population and second as to its dependence upon the outside world, although possessed of one of the most fruitful of countries.

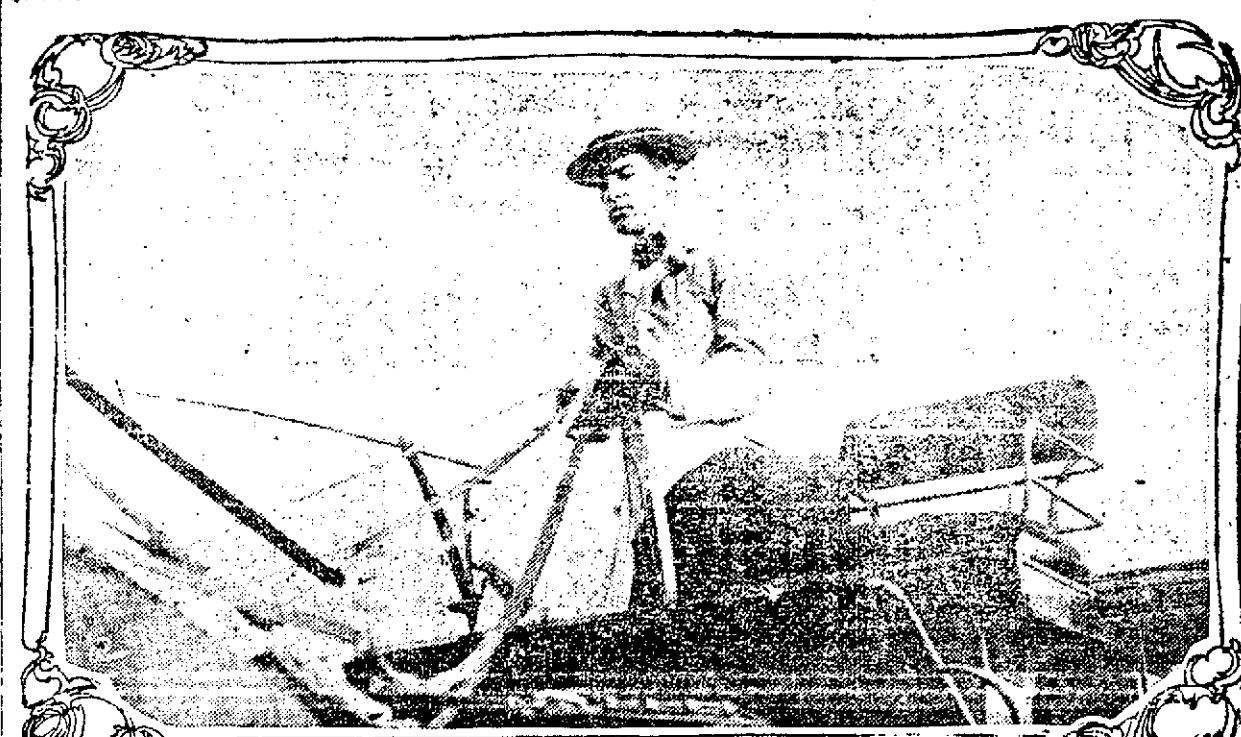

BURGLAR GRABS A GIRL BY THE NECK

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., October 19.—The police were hastily summoned last night at 11 o'clock to the home of Mrs. Nellie E. Roberts, 53 Tenth Street, when it became known that her daughter, Miss Margaret Roberts, was awakened and found dead in her room. Miss Roberts leaped from her bed, turned on the electric lights and gave the alarm, but the man grabbed her by the neck and pulled a light cord from the ceiling to prevent her from screaming and turning on the light. He made his escape. Mrs. Roberts and family, two hours before, saw a white man in the garden and frightened him away.

W. K. Vanderbilt $150,000,000
Vincent Astor $125,000,000
Alfred G. Vanderbilt $60,000,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Tomorrow is Alfred G. Vanderbilt's birthday anniversary. He will be 35 years of age.

This fact, of more or less general interest, is very significant to Mr. Vanderbilt himself because this is the day on which, according to his father's will, he comes into full possession of the vast fortune which was left to him. That is to say, $25,000,000. This, in addition to the $25,000,000 he received on attaining his 30th year, puts Mr. Vanderbilt in the ranks of the super-draughtsmen of American finance.

While the sum of Mr. Vanderbilt's fortune is set down at $50,000,000, it is believed by those who have made a study of America's great private fortunes that the holdings of young Mr. Vanderbilt will exceed that amount by several million dollars. This accretion has come in spite of his prodigal expenditures, both in this country and abroad.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt is now the master of the wealth left by his father for the most of his time abroad. His favors have been as a playground more than he does his native country. His passion for coaching found an outlet a few years ago when he established the old coach line between London and Brighton, and he soon became a very familiar figure in the English metropolis sitting on the box of his coach speeding with his fashionable passengers on the way to Brighton. As president of the New York Horse Show, Mr. Vanderbilt takes rank as the foremost society horseman of America, and in the circle of those who go in for such things, he enjoys great popularity.

While his social position and wealth gives him a place in the inner temple of society, he has never shown a great taste for the conventional functions of Fifth Avenue and Newport nor London's West End.

However, society has always watched his movements with keen interest, and it is not overstating the case to say that he has given society many a pleasant theme for drawing-room discussion.

Mr. Vanderbilt has been married twice. His present wife was the divorced wife of Dr. Hollins McKim of Baltimore. She is the daughter of Captain Isaac E. Emerson of Baltimore and Mrs. C. Hazelton Basheer.

WIFE DIVORCEE.

The present Mrs. Vanderbilt obtained a divorce from Dr. McKim at Reno, Nevada, in 1910, and was married to Vanderbilt in England the following year.

The recent divorce of the beautiful Mrs. McKim is said to date from 1908. During the horse show of that year the young millionaire first met the brilliant and vivacious Baltimore belle, and at once fell captivated by her charms.

At that time he was married to Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, daughter of Mrs. Frances Osmund French, of New York.

His first marriage took place in 1901, and in 1908, his wife, who was rich in her own right, obtained a decree in New York. In granting the decree the courts gave to Mrs. Vanderbilt the custody of her son, together with the privilege of marrying again.

This son, William Henry, has always been a great favorite with his father.

Although he has remained with his mother ever since his parents separated, he received from his father a settlement of $1,500,000 which is being held in trust for him by his mother, and a house from the princely Mr. Vanderbilt has always taken a delight in showering presents, large checks, and other things upon "Willie" as a mark of his love for his young offspring.

SECOND HEIR.

Until recently this boy was his father's sole heir, but another boy, born to the second wife of Alfred G. Vanderbilt last September, has caused no little speculation among the friends concerned as to what share the older boy will now receive.

"Willie" is a sturdy little fellow, 11 years of age, and while he is possibly devoted to his mother has always evinced a like affection for his father, and he has never been able to understand why his parents do not live together, and many are the perplexing questions on that score that neither he nor his mother has had to answer with what tact she can.

Vanderbilt seems never to have been lacking for women admirers. Throughout his pictorial career he has been surrounded by women high in society and others who seem to have had nothing more than beauty, and love of horses, with which to appeal to the young millionaire.

BELLE'S FATHER BOILERMAKER.

Just two years ago, the name of Mary Agnes Collier, of Paris, was often mentioned in the gossip of society. Miss Collier was a woman of most striking beauty, whose father was a St. Louis boilermaker. She frequently sat on the box with Vanderbilt in the coaching season and was said to be the girl whom she was greatly admired by the young millionaire.

Then came the tragic suicide of Miss Collier in London, in 1909.

One of the unique features in the marriage of Mr. Vanderbilt and his present wife, according to reports, is a written understanding between them which they call a pre-divorce agreement. The young couple recognizing the fact that the divorce court has played a large part in their life, have attempted to escape this undesirable notoriety in the event of a separation between them. According to the agreement, Mr. Vanderbilt claims the right to travel as he pleases without any interference, and in her turn, Mrs. Vanderbilt must be allowed to spend as much time in Paris as she wishes without question from her husband. There is no provision from either him or her visits to Paris nor her journeys into the unknown are to be considered as grounds for unhappiness.

Of course, it is understood between them that they are to do all they can to avoid any divorce complications. Moreover, in the event of a divorce, under no conditions is Mrs. Vanderbilt to talk to newspaper people or give out any information about herself or her husband, and Mr. Vanderbilt is not to talk to any newspaper people on any subject but her.

GETS $100,000 A YEAR.

As long as they live happily together Mrs. Vanderbilt's personal allowance will approximate $100,000 a year. Mr. Vanderbilt is to pay all house and stable maintenance.

In the event of divorce if Mr. Vanderbilt is at fault, he is to settle $2,000,000 on each girl child, $1,000,000 on each son, and $500,000 on each daughter. Further stipulations that each child shall spend six months with each parent no matter what the causes of the separation. In case of a son, his entire education is to be arranged by the father. If a divorce is required and Mrs. Vanderbilt is at fault, she is to receive an allowance of $1000 annually and he is to pay all expenses of the children and himself.

That Mr. Vanderbilt and his young wife have been in the separation for some time due to the fact, as stated before, that many members of their immediate family, as well as themselves, have gone through the divorce mill.

Jack Horner divorced her husband and started home again. Then her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Emerson, were divorced and each has since married again.

Alfred Vanderbilt's wife, he himself was divorced by his first wife, Elizabeth Vanderbilt, his uncle, William K.

Vanderbilt, was divorced, his wife later marrying Oliver H. P. Belmont, is concerned. Willie K. Vanderbilt, and the children of Marlborough, are separated from their domestic partners.

SENSATIONAL
GUN PLAY
WHEN LIE IS PASSED

THE KNAVE

TOO MUCH FOR MOTHER-IN-LAW

AN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—There was a recrudescence of the wild and woolly West spirit for a brief period in a certain important business office the middle of the week.

The two men who engaged in the affair are notable large salary earners. Not millionaires themselves, they do what is probably the next best thing in business life, and that is handle other people's millions. The lie was passed between them and a gun displayed in rather a strange way.

Nobody was hurt, and, even if the aggressor is not sorry he lost his temper, it is best not to mention names in connection with the narration of the episode. One of the parties had called on the other to discuss over his prized mahogany table a certain business proposition. As the argument proceeded, the caller accused the other man of purposely deceiving him because others had been given better terms than were being offered him.

"That's not true," was the reply, "you don't know of anybody being favored because we treat all on the same terms. Take the proposition or let it alone."

"You lie," was the heated, unadulterated retort. Jumping up with an oath, the former started to feel in his hip pockets. As he did so, the other man, still coolly sitting in his chair, pulled a gun from one of his rear pockets, laid it on the table near him and tauntingly remarked:

"Probably this is one of the things you are searching for. Try it, for it is a good one. I know because I have tried it and found it not wanting in an emergency."

With that the other man demanded that the interview end and his caller withdrew. The other complied without more ado as he pocketed his weapon. Now mutual friends are seeking to adjust their differences but without success, for the man who displayed the revolver still insists that the other one is in his little Ananias Club to stay.

Tramp A-No. 1, Is Dead

The famous tramp known as A-No. 1, who was killed riding on the brakebeam of a train near New Orleans week before last, after having traveled 470,000 miles in that fashion in this country since 1883, is said to have been born a Leveson in this city about forty years ago. There are several well-to-do families of that name in San Francisco and he was a son of one of them. As a lad he ran away and for years his relatives tried in vain to reclaim him from his wanderlust. All they did get from him was a promise never to reveal his true name while tramping over the country, or whenever he got into trouble with the officers of the law. He never did get into scrapes of any disgraceful kind but the fear that he would do so, owing to his aimless, queer life, and thus bring disgrace on the family, was always a haunting dread with it. All but the women of the family disowned him years ago. A-No. 1, in his book, "Life and Adventures of A-No. 1," a copy of which I have had several years, sets forth that in a general way there are four classes of tramps. One is the "gray cat," who is only a roving laborer, drifting about from place to place in search of employment and generally honest. Then there is the "poneyman," a tramping peddler, who is also honest; the "moocher," one of the queerest of the race, who is a beggar, always manages to look good and often has a bank account; and the "fink," who, when in town, can be found hanging around a cheap saloon, and who is only a cheap thief.

In Germany A-No. 1 found it almost impossible to steal breakbeam rides, for it is a prison offense there and there are so many petty officials who stop a stranger every few miles to examine his credentials. They ran him out of the country in short order.

Wells, Fargo Loses Good Tenant.

A tenant, who will take a long lease at a good rent figure of several floors of a big office structure, is naturally a much sought after individual, firm or company, by landlords. This is why many of them in disappointment have, so to speak, just woken up to the fact that the owners of the Sharon building, just being completed on New Montgomery street, opposite the Palace, have stolen a march on them by inducing the Associated Oil Company to agree to desert the Wells, Fargo Express building at Second and Mission streets and come under the roof of their building the first of the year. Associated Oil is to have three floors in the big, new building. The Builders' Exchange people are also signed to take a large space. These two tenants will therefore aid materially in paying to the Sharon estate people, the owners of the property, which represents in land and improvements a million-dollar investment, a goodly income. The express company did not want to lose so fine a tenant, which it has had for years. Vice-President and General Manager A. Christeson of Wells, Fargo & Co. did his best to keep it, but in vain. Several reasons are given why Associated has decided to move. One is that teaming on Mission street's basalt blocks makes things too noisy. Piffle, say some. Rent was not the cause. Better accommodations constitute a fair excuse. I think I know the real reason but I'm not going to tell.

Lawyer Reaps a Big Harvest.

Did you ever hear of Otto Irving Wise's bad bargain in old stamps?

Otto, who is one of the promising younger members of the bar who has already "arrived," once loaned a friend, who was always in bad luck, a $20 gold piece. A year passed, with no return of the money. Fourteen months later the unlucky friend wrote him from Java. Dame Fortune, even in that far-away land, was still looking down on him cross-eyed. He apologized for not being able to return the gold but would Otto accept a book of old stamps as an Englishman had given him for some little courtesy on his part? The package arrived with the epistle. Wise cannot understand such a hobby as stamp collecting. A devotee of philately, in other words, is beyond his comprehension. So, wanting to realize on the stamps and save thereby the loaned $20, he called in one of the professional collectors to place a value on his gift. About $400, thought the expert, who was eager to buy. Something in his manner caused Wise to refuse to sell. Going to New York later on, he took the stamps with him to see what could be done there. One old stamp store fellow offered $1400, but did not seem eager to buy. This induced Wise to close the deal on the spot.

"And you know I think I made a most wretched bargain," he said to several friends last night. "From what I was told afterwards, I think I could have got $10,000 if I had not been in such a hurry to sell."

Gathered Anecdotes of Mark Twain.

Albert Bigelow Paine, the secretary for many years of Mark Twain, who has just had printed in three volumes his biography of that leading figure in American literature, has incorporated into his work some stories of Twain's life in Nevada and California he got from well-known men of this coast, like E. Black Ryan of this city and Menlo Park, Sam Davis of the Carson, Nev., Appeal, and Edward Townsend, now member of Congress from New Jersey. Showing his painstaking efforts to get as complete data as possible about Mark Twain, Paine wrote these and other men on the Coast eight years ago requesting them to give him any recollections they might have about the famous author, or things concerning him they had good authority for. Davis worked with Twain in Nevada. Townsend was a mine of anecdotes of the author, having gleaned them as a newspaper man both in the Sagebrush State and this city after the author went East. In the sixties, Mark Twain lived for a time at the Sacramento home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Black Ryan. The first time Ryan met him was when he was sent by a San Francisco paper to report a fair of the then young California's State Agricultural Society. Sacramento was crowded for the event and Twain lived for the week he was there at the Ryan home. Both men at that time formed a lasting friendship. Ryan was then, as he still is, a clever story teller, with a pronounced sense of humor. This was one of several reasons why the man, who was destined to become one of the country's greatest authors, took such a strong liking to him.

Income of the Gould Estate.

That must have been a pretty fine crab salad Roy Carruthers set at the Cliff House for Edwin Gould of New York and his friends, D. H. Morris and A. H. Morris of New York and New Orleans, last Friday noon which caused them to smack their lips and remark:

"It alone is worth the trip to the Coast."

Like his brother, George Jay, Edwin Gould is a most affable, unpretentious man. These are the two brothers who are said to have insisted, when giving their consent as trustees of the father's estate for their sister, the Countess De Castellane, to marry the Prince De Sagan, that a marriage contract be drawn up distinctly exempting her income from whatever financial obligations may have been hanging over him when she became his wife. Her income had suffered much from Count De Castellane's debts contracted before their marriage, report placing the sum at two millions. Edwin Gould is very happily married, and among his friends it is known that he is very thankful the newspapers give no mention of his domestic affairs.

He was very much opposed to his brother Frank marrying Edith Kelley, the English actress, and has fought in vain against Frank's decision to own a big racing stable in France. The latter is credited with having bought recently the stable of M. Picard for $600,000. While the estate of Jay Gould has suffered some severe jolts since the panic of 1907, it is commonly believed that it yields today $3,000,000 a year for the six children to divide evenly among them. The estate was credited with yielding an income of $4,840,000 in 1901 and in excess of four million annually for the seven years prior to October, 1907.

Governor Harmon a Good Mixer.

Governor Harmon of Ohio won the great regard of everybody who met him while in the city. He is a splendid "mixer" and accepted every invitation sent him. As the only Fred Swanton of Santa Cruz expressed it:

"The Governor is a tireless guest and after you have been with him an hour you feel as if you had known him all your life."

Harmon was interested in meeting many of the women active in politics. Some of them, knowing a certain thing he had done with the Girls' Industrial Home at Delaware, Ohio, were more than pleased to meet him. Some time ago Harmon decided to place at the head of that institution a woman expert. A lot of politicians fought this step very bitterly. Harmon swept them aside and threw all the male officials out of the home. Not only did he place a woman superintendent at the head of it. The medical department of the home was placed in charge of a woman physician. Female parole officers were also created and a male officer may not now even transport to the institution a girl committed to the home. The fact was, as one member of Harmon's party said last evening, the Girls' Industrial Home had been a hotbed of scandal for many years and Governor Harmon took effectual means to remove the cause, and, at the same time, to benefit the institution and its inmates.

Fremont Sought Personal Glory.

Considerable is being said about the harsh attacks to be found in Zoeth S. Eldridge's "The Beginnings of San Francisco" on the character of General Fremont during his career in early days on this coast.

Whether Fremont was guilty or not of cowardice, murder and lesser offenses as charged in this new historical sketch, the fact remains that he was a vain, ambitious man. Possessed of some ability, he was ruthless in his quest after personal glory. The political history of the country contains no more sorry spectacle than that of Fremont in his sojourn years seeking in the fall of 1863, at the hands of a Cleveland convention, to wrest the presidency from Lincoln at the most critical stage of the civil war and when for a time at least General McClellan, the Democratic nominee, was a most formidable antagonist. Fremont thought the country had done him a cruel injustice not to have put him in the White House after he had headed the Free Soil party in the presidential race in the middle fifties. No considerations of patriotism actuated him and his following in that second Lincoln campaign. His role was simply that of an embittered, selfish, disappointed man. His campaign ended in a fiasco, leaving an unpleasant memory of bitter and unjust attacks on the greatest man this country has so far produced, barring none save Washington. There is certainly little excuse for the stand McClellan took in that campaign and the attacks on Lincoln he fathered, but there is no excuse for Fremont.

Now He Can Say It.

J. F. Parkinson, the most prominent of the "oldest inhabitants" of Palo Alto, was denouncing State Senator Black of the Palo Alto Building and Loan Association and warning his friends, both publicly and privately, against his business methods for several years before the crash came, so he is out nothing by the bad failure of that institution and is in a position to honestly say:

"I told you so."

In his early political career, Black was a protege of Parkinson and the latter pushed him to the front all he could. On being raised to the Senatorship, and even some time before then, Black turned against Parkinson and his friends on the ground that his political aims and his ideas of political morality were higher than theirs. This ingratitude greatly angered and embittered Parkinson and from that time on he watched very closely the business and political life of the now confessed misuser of other people's money. He found many suspicious things in Black's business conduct and was not backward in telling of them personally and through his newspaper organ in that town. Some of his charges against the Senator went into detail. But Black had so many people in that section hypnotized that he successfully moved the charges aside by remarking to them:

"Can't you see Parkinson is simply doing dirty politics?"

When the crash came and exposed the crookedness of Black, some of the financially injured ones went to Parkinson complaining that if he knew Black was doing wrong all along why didn't he tell them.

"I did tell you all in this town lots of times, but you wouldn't listen," was his reply.

Army Adopts Electric Target.

Lieutenant-Commander Mark St. C. Ellis, U. S. A., who is stationed at Mare Island, is receiving the congratulations of his friends on his success in having the army authorities at Washington adopt for small arms' practice the electric target he recently invented. The target is a marvel in its way and dispenses with the need of a man to constantly tend it while marksmen are at practice. It is a double target arrangement, the two sides, or plates, being connected by wires and operated by a simple and cheap electric battery. One of the targets, like the old one, is placed at the proper distance for the men to shoot at either with revolvers or rifles. The other plate or target an exact duplicate, is placed close by where the men are shooting from. The moment the distance plate is hit by a bullet, the exact spot is recorded on the duplicate target by the side of the marksmen, the electric current doing the trick in a most interesting and lightning-speed manner. No matter at what spot the distance target is hit, the other one will instantly show by a mark where the damage was done. Ellis worked on his invention a long time before it was perfected. When explained to them and thoroughly tested, the army people adopted it without any hesitation. Like many other inventions, it is simple in its workings that the old, familiar remark about why did not some one think of it before is being repeated.

Another Bull Moose Conspiracy

The Bull Moosers in Nevada are running Sardis Summerfield for the United States Senate, making a triangular fight, with Senator W. A. Massey as the regular Republican candidate and Key Pittman as the Democrat. There are 22,000 registered voters this year in the State just over the California line. A competent authority tells me that Summerfield has no show for the political plum and that the Roosevelt followers are perfectly aware of this fact. He and they are simply in the field to beat Massey and have Pittman win, which they secretly hope he will be able to do easily. So it is the same old conspiracy of the Bull Moose people to wreck the Republican party there as in so many other regions of the country. It is known that Roosevelt and his national manager, Senator Dixon, advised this course after being informed by their national committeemen from that State, P. J. Flanigan of Reno, that Senator Massey, who is filling the unexpired term of the late Senator Nixon by appointment from Governor Oddie, refused to come out for the Progressive cause. Knowing the facts fully, Massey, backed by George Wingfield, is making the hardest kind of a fight to win out. According to all accounts, there is plenty of money in both his fight and that of Pittman. Next to this contest over there, George A. Bartlett's fight for an independent judiciary is a very interesting struggle. Bartlett, who was a Democratic Congressman and refused a renomination two years ago, is an independent candidate for the Supreme Court.

Some Hospitable Country Homes.

Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst's hacienda, near Pleasanton, some of the fine country homes at Burlingame and others near Santa Cruz, are expected to be important hospitable centers for the entertainment of distinguished visitors when the Panama-Pacific Exposition is in full blast. The Hearst and Burlingame country mansions are pretty well known, more so than those in the Santa Cruz region. One of the homes in the latter district is that of E. O. McCormick, vice-president in charge of traffic for the Southern Pacific Company. Its grounds and structure are entirely new and altogether they constitute a most charming and delightful spot. Charles C. Moore, the president of the exposition, is building a new country place in the same region. It, of course, will house many distinguished visitors. William T. Sesson, another official of the fair, has a fine home down there. His entertainment of several hundred of his fellow members of the Bohemian Club one week-end in the place is still a sweet memory. Curtis H. Lindley, also a fair official; Fred Tillman, the merchant prince, and others are likewise in that locality with pretentious and hospitable homes.

How the Judge Was Appointed.

Here is a story of how Roosevelt once appointed a United States Judge in Oklahoma. A visitor from that State, a successful attorney, now at the Palace, told the facts in my presence the other evening. By request his name is withheld.

In the early days of Roosevelt's occupancy of the White House, Oklahoma was a Territory and Dennis Flynn was its delegate to Congress. Flynn was a great admirer of Roosevelt and is said to have won favor with the latter by never tiring at the White House man's oft-repeated account of his part in the battle of San Juan Hill. There being a vacancy in the District Federal Judgeship in his Territory on one occasion, Flynn commenced a fight for his particular man. He got up a petition, the first name on it being that of George R. Peck, chief counsel for the Santa Fe road. Prominent attorneys for the Burlington, Rock Island, Missouri Pacific and other roads signed it at Flynn's solicitation. The petition was soon in Washington and in the hands of Cortelyou, Roosevelt's private secretary. Not hearing anything for two weeks, Flynn met Attorney-General Moody one day and asked him if there was any trouble.

"Go over and see the President," was the reply. "It is up to him now to act one way or the other, for the cabinet has canvassed your man's qualifications and endorsements."

Flynn saw Roosevelt. The latter sent for the papers. Reading aloud Peck's name, the President inquired:

"Is Peck a great friend of Judge _____?"

"Very close friend," snapped Flynn.

The same question was asked about the other railroad attorneys whose names were on the petition, the same answer quickly following.

"Well, Flynn," said the President, "I can't see how under those circumstances I can appoint your man. The newspapers would immediately charge that he is a corporation judge. I'm sorry to have to disappoint you."

"Then we'll strike off all those railroad names and endorsements," said the very resourceful Flynn, and with pen and ink he did so on the spot.

Roosevelt laughed loud and long at this drastic

Also Called Tetter, Salt, Rheum, Fruitus, Milk.

ECZEMA CAN BE MADE TO STAY, and when I say cured, I mean just that I say CURE and not merely patched up for awhile to return worse than before. Remenber how you were born with it, free for ten years of my time on this one disease and handling in the meantime a quartet of a million cases of this dreadful disease. Now I do not care what all you have heard but many doctors have told you that you could not be cured—all I ask is just a chance to show you that I can. I am talking about it if you will write me TODAY. I can send a small TRIAL of my milk, soothing, guaranteed cure that will convince you more in a day than I ever could. Write me today and I will be disgusted and discouraged. I dare you to give me a chance to prove my claims. By writing me today you will enjoy more real comfort than you have ever known. Write me today and you will see I am telling the truth.

WILSON WINDS UP HIS CAMPAIGN

The Candidate Will Not Speak Again Unless Roosevelt Takes Stump.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Governor Woodrow Wilson wound up his speaking campaign for the present tonight with addresses to two vast and enthusiastic audiences in Manhattan and Brooklyn. He was followed at each meeting by Congressman William Sulzer and Martin Glynn, candidates upon the Democratic ticket.

The Governor received a splendid ovation when he entered Carnegie Hall at 9:30 o'clock. For the first time during the national campaign his family was present at a meeting outside the home state of New Jersey. And when the vast audience arose to greet the candidate Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters waved their handkerchiefs and joined the exciting cheering.

As Wilson proceeded down the platform to the speaker's place he was the recipient of a tremendous demonstration. Hundreds of women in evening gowns crowded the boxes. Many women were mingled in the Brooklyn meeting also, which was held in the Academy of Music. Both auditoriums were filled.

Governor Wilson will not take the stump again unless Colonel Roosevelt recovers sufficiently to continue his campaign. While many persons have urged the Democratic candidate to continue he has declined to recede from the attitude he took the day following the shooting of Colonel Roosevelt. He then said he would talk in Delaware, Pennsylvania and West Virginia and make the speeches he did this evening because he did not want to disappoint his audiences.

'Unknown' American Has Laugh on the Money Trust

A. WENDELL JACKSON, THE AMERICAN WHO HAS PLAYED A JOKE ON THE MONEY TRUST.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A. Wendell Jackson is the almost unknown American who has played a joke on the money trust. The big bankers of the great countries of the world were anxious to get at the new Chinese republic, which offered some pickings. They came to an understanding by which they were to divide a loan among the bankers of six countries under a guarantee from those countries that the payment of the loan would be enforced. The conditions they demanded were so stringent that China refused to accept them. Believing that the new government was helpless without them the bankers sat back and waited for it to capitulate.

About this time A. Wendell Jackson came along. He is an American, born in California and educated in Germany. Having gone to China as an engineer, he informed the Chinese government that he could get a loan on much better terms, and he went to London to get it. He asked bankers there outside the money trust to give him $10,000,000 for China.

The British foreign office hearing of the negotiations, warned Jackson that they could not guarantee his loan. He requested that the foreign office formally notify him that it wished the negotiations for the loan discontinued. This responsibility the foreign office refused to assume and Jackson went ahead and raised the money. The indications are that the loan will be over-subscribed when the books are opened to the public.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A. Wendell Jackson is the almost unknown American who has played a joke on the money trust. The big bankers of the great countries of the world were anxious to get at the new Chinese republic, which offered some pickings. They came to an understanding by which they were to divide a loan among the bankers of six countries under a guarantee from those countries that the payment of the loan would be enforced. The conditions they demanded were so stringent that China refused to accept them. Believing that the new government was helpless without them the bankers sat back and waited for it to capitulate.

About this time A. Wendell Jackson came along. He is an American, born in California and educated in Germany. Having gone to China as an engineer, he informed the Chinese government that he could get a loan on much better terms, and he went to London to get it. He asked bankers there outside the money trust to give him $10,000,000 for China.

The British foreign office hearing of the negotiations, warned Jackson that they could not guarantee his loan. He requested that the foreign office formally notify him that it wished the negotiations for the loan discontinued. This responsibility the foreign office refused to assume and Jackson went ahead and raised the money. The indications are that the loan will be over-subscribed when the books are opened to the public.

WHO IS CHAMPION ON SKATES? ANSWER TONIGHT

The sixth and final heat in the six-day skating contest at Idora Park's rink will be held this evening and promised to be the most hotly contested race ever pulled off at the big Idora rink. The skaters have covered over 22 miles in the past five fifteen-minute heats, yet only a distance of two feet separate the three leaders.

The race tonight will be a fight to the finish, for a purse of $100 goes with the six-day championship. As matters now stand, Ike Bonnell is leading his brother William by one foot. Danny Arena is just one foot behind Spencer and Lester Bierworth are one-eighth of a lap behind the three leaders. Jack Herr is two laps behind and only with the greatest luck will he be able to finish in time.

Either of the other five competitors have an excellent chance of winning first money, the biggest purse ever offered by the Idora Park company, and the fifteen minutes of skating tonight will bring out some great sport. The contest is scheduled to start at 9 o'clock.

FINDING OF BODY CAUSE OF MYSTERY

San Diego Police Search for Musician Last Seen With Missing Man.

AN DIEGO, Oct. 19.—Believing that the body found heavily weighted in San Diego bay October 8 is that of E. C. Moore, who has been missing from his home in San Diego since the afternoon of September 15, the police department this afternoon secured an order for the exhuming of the remains and started a state-wide hunt for Bruno Fester, a magician who was last seen with Moore. Moore is a wealthy man and maintains a magnificent home in an exclusive residence section.

This morning Dr. R. A. Rood, a dentist, identified a gold crown taken from the body found in the bay as one he had placed in Moore's mouth some time ago.

WOMAN SUES FOR $10,000 DAMAGES

Miss Nina Anker Says That She Was Victim of an Attack.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—Damages to the amount of $10,000 were asked today by Miss Nina Anker from August Van Heekeren, who is said to own considerable property in the Richmond district and who is accused by the young woman of a criminal assault upon her on July 28 of this year.

Miss Anker, who has retained Attorney P. B. Nagle to prosecute her action, declares that she advertised in the newspapers for a position as a housekeeper and her ad informed her that he would prefer having a wife and took her out and showed her his home on Eleventh avenue. He made arrangements to see her again and on his next visit she claimed he attacked her. She expected him to return and fulfill his obligation, it is alleged, and she later discovered that he was already married. Thus the suit.

Twenty-Eight Thousand Wells.
On September 31, 1911, there were 10,809 productive wells in Pennsylvania, 4,755 in West Virginia, 4,777 in Ohio, 2,623 in Indiana, and 2,004 in Kansas. The total number of productive wells in the United States on that date was 28,428.

During the last three years the separation of the more volatile grades of gasoline from natural gas issuing from oil wells has become a profitable industry of increasing importance. The industry did not progress as rapidly in 1911 as was expected. Undoubtedly it will eventually become a settled and flourishing business, for millions of cubic feet of gas that is now wasted into gas-cages instead is now converted into gasoline, shriveling the demand and price warrant it. The United States Geological Survey last year attempted to compile figures of production of gasoline from natural gas, but many plants were operated intermittently and no records were kept of the output. Statements from such producers could only be estimated. However crude the method of manufacture, a report of the quantity of gasoline produced shows an output in 1911 of 7,425,830 gallons, with an estimated value of $51,704.

ACCUSES HUSBAND OF GREAT CRUELTY

Woman, However, Says She Wants Spouse to Return to Her.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—A long list of accusations are recited by Mrs. Josephine Grace Huff in a divorce suit filed today against John Edward Huff. Notwithstanding the fact that her spouse heaped upon her the grossest indignities, Mrs. Huff relates that she has several times pleaded with him to return to her since his desertion a year ago.

The couple were wedded January 28, 1907, and soon after that time a blow on the jaw and an attempt to strike her on the head, Huff, caused the wife, she says, to be confined to bed for several days under the care of physicians. On another occasion he kicked her in the abdomen, she alleges, and tried to break her fingers by bending them backward. Frequently he threatened her with death and she claims telephoned to his friends that he hated her and could kill her. During the last year she says he has contributed but $7.50 to her support and t has been since his absence that she had repeatedly pleaded and begged that he came back to her.

SHOP GIRLS TO HAVE USE OF GYMNASIUMS

SPokane, Wash., Oct. 19.—Members of the Spokane Board of Education are unanimously in favor of opening the gymnasium of the two high schools in the city for use of shop girls for night classes in physical training. A number of petitions have been received by the board, requesting use of the gymnasium for such classes under private instructors, but the board chose rather to investigate to determine the advisability of the school districts taking charge of the work. All members of the board favor extending their school center program of afternoons athletic training for employed girls.

TO GET GASOLINE FROM NATURAL GAS

Government Geologists Find Need for Establishment of New Business.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Seventy-four million dollars was the value of the natural gas produced in this country for 1911 while there was a decrease in quantity from the output of 1910, the figures for the two years being $509,155,309,000 and 508,353,421,000 cubic feet. The value of the production in 1911 was nearly $4,000,000 greater than that of 1910, a gain of 4.76 percent. The increase in demand for natural gas from consumers of all kinds, according to David T. Day, of the United States Geological Survey, in a report on the production of natural gas in 1911, just published by the survey, makes the supply of gas a matter of growing seriousness. Beyond question the natural gas that can be furnished in many of the fields of the United States is simply a function of the capital invested in natural-gas lines, and especially in power plants for pumping the gas. But the safety of such large investments decreases in proportion as the increasing demand becomes indicative of a failing supply.

In Ohio and Indiana the yield has diminished so rapidly as to stop the investment of the further capital necessary to increase production. One important feature bearing on the production of natural gas during 1911 was the excessive demand for it in Kansas City. This caused a board of public utilities to create a commission headed by Erasmus Haworth, state geologist of Kansas, to investigate the probable duration of the supply of gas to Kansas City. In his report Mr. Haworth expressed the opinion that the supply of natural gas is sufficient for the needs of the city is not possible for longer than three or four years.

PENNSYLVANIA'S GREATEST CON-SUMER.

Pennsylvania was the greatest consumer of natural gas in 1911, with an output of 351,473,378,000 cubic feet. Ohio was second, with 112,123,029,600 cubic feet. West Virginia was third, with 80,665,645,000 cubic feet, and Kansas fourth, with 77,861,143,000 cubic feet. The Kansas figure includes gas piped from Kansas and consumed in Missouri, also gas piped from Oklahoma into Kansas and Missouri. In 1911 Pennsylvania used 103,227,580,000 cubic feet for manufacturing and 10,221,155,000 cubic feet for other industrial purposes—power, etc. West Virginia used 50,131,16,620,000 cubic feet for manufacturing and 1,629,278,000 cubic feet for other industrial purposes. Kansas used 46,570,47,000 and 3,602,355,000 cubic feet for manufacturing and other industrial purposes.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S CIRCUS SUCCESSFUL

BERKELEY, Oct. 19.—More than $600 for the buying pictures and other donations for the walls of the Washington school was earned by the boys and girls who managed the school circus yesterday afternoon and evening. A parade in which a large number of children took part was complimented by many who witnessed it in the tour of the streets. Booths of various sorts, refreshments, circus acts and vaudeville features were given by children of the school as part of the circus.

The local Socialist party passed a resolution last evening asking Governor Johnson to interfere in the curtailing of free speech at San Diego and forwarded a copy to the Governor's office.

Two other resolutions were passed by the school board at its meeting today and offered a choice of three different sites in their location adjoining the city on the east for the location of the proposed new school, the prices quoted being $2,000, $30,000 and $15,000. The matter was taken under advisement by the board.

Proper care and provisions for the health of the children was the point in the debate. The resolution was to be up before the board of education today, the doctor in inquiring that the school children should have medical examination at intervals and that the school should be maintained as likely as not something along these lines will be done.

W. W. Esterly, a local contractor, met with a serious auto accident last evening, when his car overturned in avoid-

PIONEER ALAMEDA WOMAN
DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

The late MRS. ANNA MCLEAN of Alameda, who died yesterday after a brief illness.

ALAMEDA, Oct. 19.—Friends of Mrs. Anna Elizabeth McLean were surprised and shocked today to hear of her death this morning after an illness of but four days. Mrs. McLean, who would have celebrated her 75th anniversary next Thursday, was in robust health up to the first day of her illness. The night before she was taken ill she had dinner down town and was in the best of spirits.

Mrs. McLean was one of the best known residents of Alameda, having lived here for 35 years. Before coming to Alameda she resided in San Francisco. She came to San Francisco from New York in 1870. Her husband, William McLean, whom she married in San Francisco, died many years ago. Mrs. McLean built a home on Clinton avenue when the thoroughfare and surrounding neighborhood was a sandy plain covered with brush and undergrowth.

Walter Scott, and a granddaughter, Mary E. McLean, both of this city, survive her. Mrs. McLean was born in Alabama but grew up in Philadelphia and came to San Francisco in 1870. The Pennsylvanian was a sprightly, high-spirited girl all who knew her. Among her friends and acquaintances were practically all of the old-time residents of this community.

The funeral will be held Monday.

The services will be under the auspices of the Home of Truth, of which Mrs. McLean was a member.

DECISION FAVORS SAN LEANDRO

Telephone Case Is Settled by the State Railroad Commission.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—The railroad commission has rendered a decision in the case of the Chamber of Commerce of San Leandro against the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company. The Chamber of Commerce of San Leandro had complained that while a certain portion of the city, Broadmoor tract, had been placed in the Oakland exchange area, the rest of San Leandro had been excluded and was required to pay a toll rate for messages into Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, etc.

The commission takes the stand that the Chamber of Commerce of San Leandro is justified in its complaint and that the conditions against which it has protested should be remedied.

The commission holds, therefore, that the telephone company should extend the entire city of San Leandro the superior service and lower rates that have been given to Broadmoor tract. The commission directs that the Oakland exchange area for telephone service be extended to include the San Leandro exchange area. The commission orders the telephone company to replace its present equipment in San Leandro with an improved and adequate equipment.

At present exchange rates within San Leandro itself, the toll rates to and from San Leandro, and the rates between San Leandro and San Francisco are not changed by the commission's order. The order is made effective three months from date.

The railroad commission has begun plans for the valuation of the electric railroads of the State. The valuation of the electric railroads has been suspended for several months. The commission has now approved the forms upon which the electric railways are to be requested to file their valuations for the use of the engineering department of the commission.

The board of supervisors of Los Angeles county applied to the railroad commission for permission to install grade crossings over the tracks of the Southern Pacific on Union and Merced avenues.

The effective date of the recent decision in the San Francisco warehouse case has been extended by order of the railroad commission to and including November 9, 1912.

The railroad commission has set October 29, at 2 p. m., as the time for a hearing on proposed general order No. 50, as proposed generally by San Leandro, now in process of preparation, proposes that railroads shall not move depots, sidings and spur tracks without the authorization of the commission. General order No. 50 provides that railroads shall maintain bulletin boards at their depots to keep the public informed of the time of arrival of passenger trains.

Before putting these orders into effect, the commission agreed to obtain the views of the railroads thereon. It has, therefore, set October 29 as the time when all parties interested may present their views. The Wells Fargo cases which were to come before the commission October 21, have been postponed to Monday, November 4, at 10 a. m. The postponement was made upon a request of Wells Fargo & Co. and was based upon the fact that Mr. R. Graham, manager of Wells Fargo, is now in the East appearing before the Interstate commerce commission in the express investigations being held there. Graham is to be chief witness for Wells Fargo & Company, and for that reason, upon the request of the company, the commission consented to a postponement. The week beginning Monday, November 4, will be given over to the express investigation.

EXPORTS TOTAL MILLION DAILY

The United States Trade With Canada Doubles in Three Years.

Exports from the United States to Canada are now averaging $1,000,000 a day. Three years ago they averaged a half million dollars a day, and a dozen years ago they averaged a quarter of a million dollars a day. The August statement of exports, just completed by the Division of Statistics of the Bureau, shows that the value of merchandise exported to Canada from the United States during the 24 days from January 1 to August 31, 1912, is practically 244 million dollars, or to be more exact, $248,721,11. In the corresponding eight months of 1909 the value of merchandise exported to Canada was $10,428,853, or an average of a half million dollars a day, the total value of exports to Canada having thus doubled in the three years in question. In the corresponding period of 1909 the value of our exports to that country was $714 million dollars, or an average of a little more than a quarter of a million dollars a day.

This large growth in the exports to Canada in recent years—an increase of practically 100 per cent in three years—occurs chiefly in bituminous coal, automobiles and other carriages, manufacturers of iron and steel, lumber, corn and unmanufactured cotton. Comparing the exports in the fiscal year 1912 with those of 1909, bituminous coal shows a growth of over $10,000,000 from $15,820,019 in 1909 to $26,017,402 in 1912; lumber of the class designated as boards, deals, joists, etc., from $2,298,918 to $11,796,333; and corn from $8,432,081 to $6,568,471. Of iron and steel manufactures as a whole the exports to Canada increased from $31,644,732 in 1909 to $82,595,764 in 1912, notable increases having occurred in steel rails, which advanced from $746,885 to $2,389,834; structural iron and steel, from $1,042,120 to $1,120,000; electrical machinery from $590,152 to $1,669,781; and typewriters from $358,237 to $444,660. Scientific instruments and apparatus, including electrical appliances, advanced from $1,742,564 to $3,700,937; and agricultural implements from $2,813,566 to $6,847,062, the chief growth under this head occurring in exports of plows, which increased from $1,823 in 1909 to $1,760,045 in 1912. Of automobiles the growth in exports to Canada has been especially marked, their value, including parts, being in 1912 $2,563,247, against $1,657,638 in 1909.

MANCHURIA PURCHASES MUCH PATENT MEDICINE

From January to October, last year, $16,000 worth of Japanese patent medicines were imported into Manchuria via Dairen (Daijin), according to Consul Albert W. Pontius of Daijin, Japanese leased territory. This amount added to the trade in November and December made a total of $30,000. The markets in Manchuria extend as far north as Tsitsihar, Harbin, Mukden, Newchuan and Dairen are the best markets for this branch of the import trade. Pastils such as jujubes and saikogen and chemicals for industrial purposes such as camphor, glycerin, alcohol and—said command the largest sales.

Success Made Easier For American Singers

BARONESS CARITA VON HORST, FOUNDER OF AN OPERA SCHOOL IN GERMANY FOR AMERICAN SINGERS.

COBURG, Germany, Oct. 19.—The Baroness Carita von Horst, a wealthy American lady, has founded the Royal Opera School of Coburg. Her idea is to make the path easier for aspiring American prima donnas and eliminate the thorny road, along which, she declares, success often means moral ruin.

The baroness is the daughter of D. J. Partello, formerly American consul at Coburg. Her husband is Baron Louie von Horst, known as the "King of the Pacific Coast."

Any surplus earnings of her opera school are to be used for free scholarships for talented Americans.

DIAMOND DUST :

Judging from results, any team that is to need of a first-class shortstop ought to get a player named Wagner and put him there. Stanley Coville, the Athletics' pitcher, is a better man than Harry Coombs, who made some passing mistake by bothering the Giants a week ago.

Recent averages have it that Teaneck has a centage of .780. Hargrave, with a percentage of .765, alone outranks him. Since then, however, Teaneck has beaten the Cubs, making his record .770. He now stands at .765.

There's a distinctly Boston flavor about the Red Sox, a real Commonwealth avenue, as members of that team come from Illinois, Newark, New Jersey, Boston, Massachusetts, California, Wagner from New York, Cody and Eagle from Illinois, where Wood and Yerkes had their first professional teams.

Robert Tru, Detroit recruit from Adrian, Mich., seems to lack the quality that counts in the big show. Previed over who he considered the best, he turned to his pitcher for Jennings, he picked up an went to his home somewhere in Pennsylvania, then wrote a letter to the president of the Adrian club asking him to be allowed to go back in the fall Southern Michigan, where fielders never made errors behind a pitcher.

The bookkeeping department of the National Commission will be kept by straightening out trades of drafted players.

Take the case of Catcher Boudreau. He was drafted by Washington. At least, Detroit, the National Commission sent him to the team direct from Griffith. Another is that he is secured from the New York Yankees, which acquired him from Washington by transferring him to Detroit and Welsch.

Charles Schmid's failure as a major league ball player is nothing to equal his financial failure. He has filed a petition for bankruptcy, schedules liabilities as $12,000 and assets $200.

A bad investment in a coal mine is said to have caused the financial trouble.

The Boston Nationals cleaned up on Northwestern League pitching talent when they drafted Paul from Spokane. He is the best pitcher in the Northwestern League, but the Red Sox a year ago, but the Red Sox turned him back and did not exercise their option.

He is said to have improved and may yet sign with the Red Sox.

Someone points out that players who change from Cincinnati to Detroit or vice versa are lucky and that the last might have followed Edgerton. Four former Reds went to De-

MEXICO IS TAKING TO FOOTBALL IN GREAT STYLE

FOR ANYONE Oct. 19.—Football was announced yesterday that the Spalding people had been sending an abundance of football supplies to Old Mexico of late.

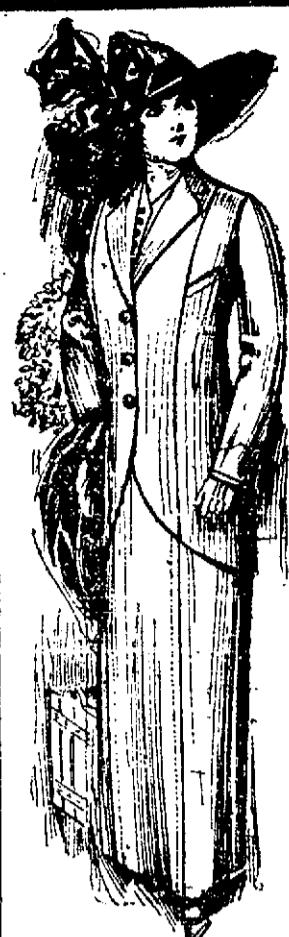

The border towns in the State of Sonora have taken up the game. The Americans who reside in the mining camps have not been able to work the mines regularly on account of the unsettled state of the country, but in order to keep them interested during long lay-offs football has been instituted. The American game is played.

The Mexican citizens who have been spectators at several of the games have been enthusiastic rooters, but nothing in the world will tempt them to take part in the game. Bull fighting, according to their way of thinking, is a mere pastime compared with the "brutal" Gringo game.

BANK FOR MEN NOT LIVING WITH WIVES

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 19.—Overman of the poor, George Overman, has established an unique bank for men who are married, who are estranged from their wives and who could be compelled by court proceedings to remit regularly. Overman accepts a personal bond from the husband to pay the wife a regular sum, and the wife may be compelled to remit a sum to make up the deficiency. And it is only in case of final failure that the court is invoked.

So far the scheme has worked satisfactorily.

Florence Tobin Is Courted By Envoy of Italy's King

MISS FLORENCE TOBIN, A NEWPORT BEAUTY, AND HER MOTHER, MRS. J. J. BROWN OF DENVER.

NEWPORT, Oct. 19.—All Newport has been discussing the attentions paid to pretty Florence Tobin by Prince Genaro Caracciolo. The prince came here as envoy of the King of Italy to study financial conditions in America. He visited Newport early in the season, met Miss Tobin, and remained at Newport.

Miss Tobin is an athletic young woman and is the daughter of Mrs. James J. Brown of Denver, who was one of the Titanic survivors. Her stepfather owns gold mines in Utah and Colorado, copper mines in Arizona and Montana, and ranches in California. He is enormously wealthy.

Heitmann and Pete Daley were telling one another just where they would go if the prince came to call. Pete Daley, the son of George Overman, who had captured the heart of some other heiress, offered to go to Atlantic City with the prince.

BROKERS BRING BACK CONVENTION IDEAS

HIGH MARK FOR
ATTAINED

Oakland's Percentage of Increase Greater Than That of Many Large Cities.

Los Angeles Suffers Loss Instead of Gain Over Same Period in 1911.

In September Oakland again made a high record in building construction, showing an increase of 31 per cent over the same month in 1911. This percentage represents a large gain as compared with that of the largest cities in the United States. In fact, in many there is a reported loss among these being New York, Chicago, Boston, Kansas City, Portland, Ore., Washington, D. C., Buffalo, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, St. Paul, New Orleans and San Jose, Cal.

Instead of a gain Los Angeles is encircled with a loss of 17 per cent. Oakland makes a better showing than Philadelphia, Rochester, Seattle, Atlanta, Omaha, Arko, Cedar Rapids, Houston, Grand Rapids, Salt Lake City, Springfield, Ill., Wilkes-Barre, Topeka and Pueblo. There were gains in 41 cities in the United States and losses in 33, according to reports made by the Construction News. The Pacific coast maintains the phenomenal activity of the past few years, seven leading cities, including Oakland, showing gains, while there were decreases in only two—Los Angeles, with a loss of 17 per cent, and Portland, with a loss of 37 per cent.

The building cost in Oakland for the month of September was $569,351, as compared with $500,708 in the same month for 1911.

Scores of miles of asphalt have been laid in Oakland during the nine months of this year, and more is being constructed in preparation for the rainy season. East Fourteenth street, from Thirteenth to Fifteenth avenues, is under way. The usual block work having been completed, Franklin street, from First to Water, is ready for concrete foundation. On Fourteenth street, between Clay and Market, the last of the surface is being laid. Harrison and Alice streets, between Twelfth and Fourteenth, are completed. Thirteenth street, from Webster to Fallon streets, has the concrete foundation completed and the surface in progress. Twenty-fourth street, between Broadway and Webster, has been curbed. Third street, from Broadway to Harrison, has been completed.

An era of prosperity and activity has struck the shipyards along the waterfront. From the Carlson yards, on the extreme end of the inner harbor to the Moore & Scott yards, on the outer section of the channel, these yards, as well as those between, are being taxed to their capacity with shipwork.

At the Moore & Scott yards a new ferryboat for the Western Pacific railway company is rapidly being rounded into shape, while several big schooners are berthed alongside the wharves, ready for loading. The Pacific shipyards, just across the channel, on the Alameda side, is working extra gangs of men in order to complete the jobs now under construction. The United Engineering Works is especially busy, having, in addition to nearly a dozen steam schooners and schooners being repaired, a new steamer under construction. William Cryer, the boatbuilder of East Oakland, has several new tugs under construction on his ways, while he has on hand several contracts for new launches and tugs, which will be built as soon as possible. As at the Cryer yards, the Calmar yards are working under forced draft in order to handle the orders which are piling in.

A number of smaller yards along the East Oakland waterfront are also busily at work turning out barges and small launches. The present activity on the local front has, according to local waterfront men, never before assumed its present proportions. It is estimated that almost $2,000,000 is being paid out by the vessel's owners for the work now being done at the local yards. According to officials of several of the shipbuilding concerns located here, enlargements of present plants will soon be made. The United Engineers' Works has already added several hundred feet to their machine shops, while it is expected that the docking facilities will also be increased.

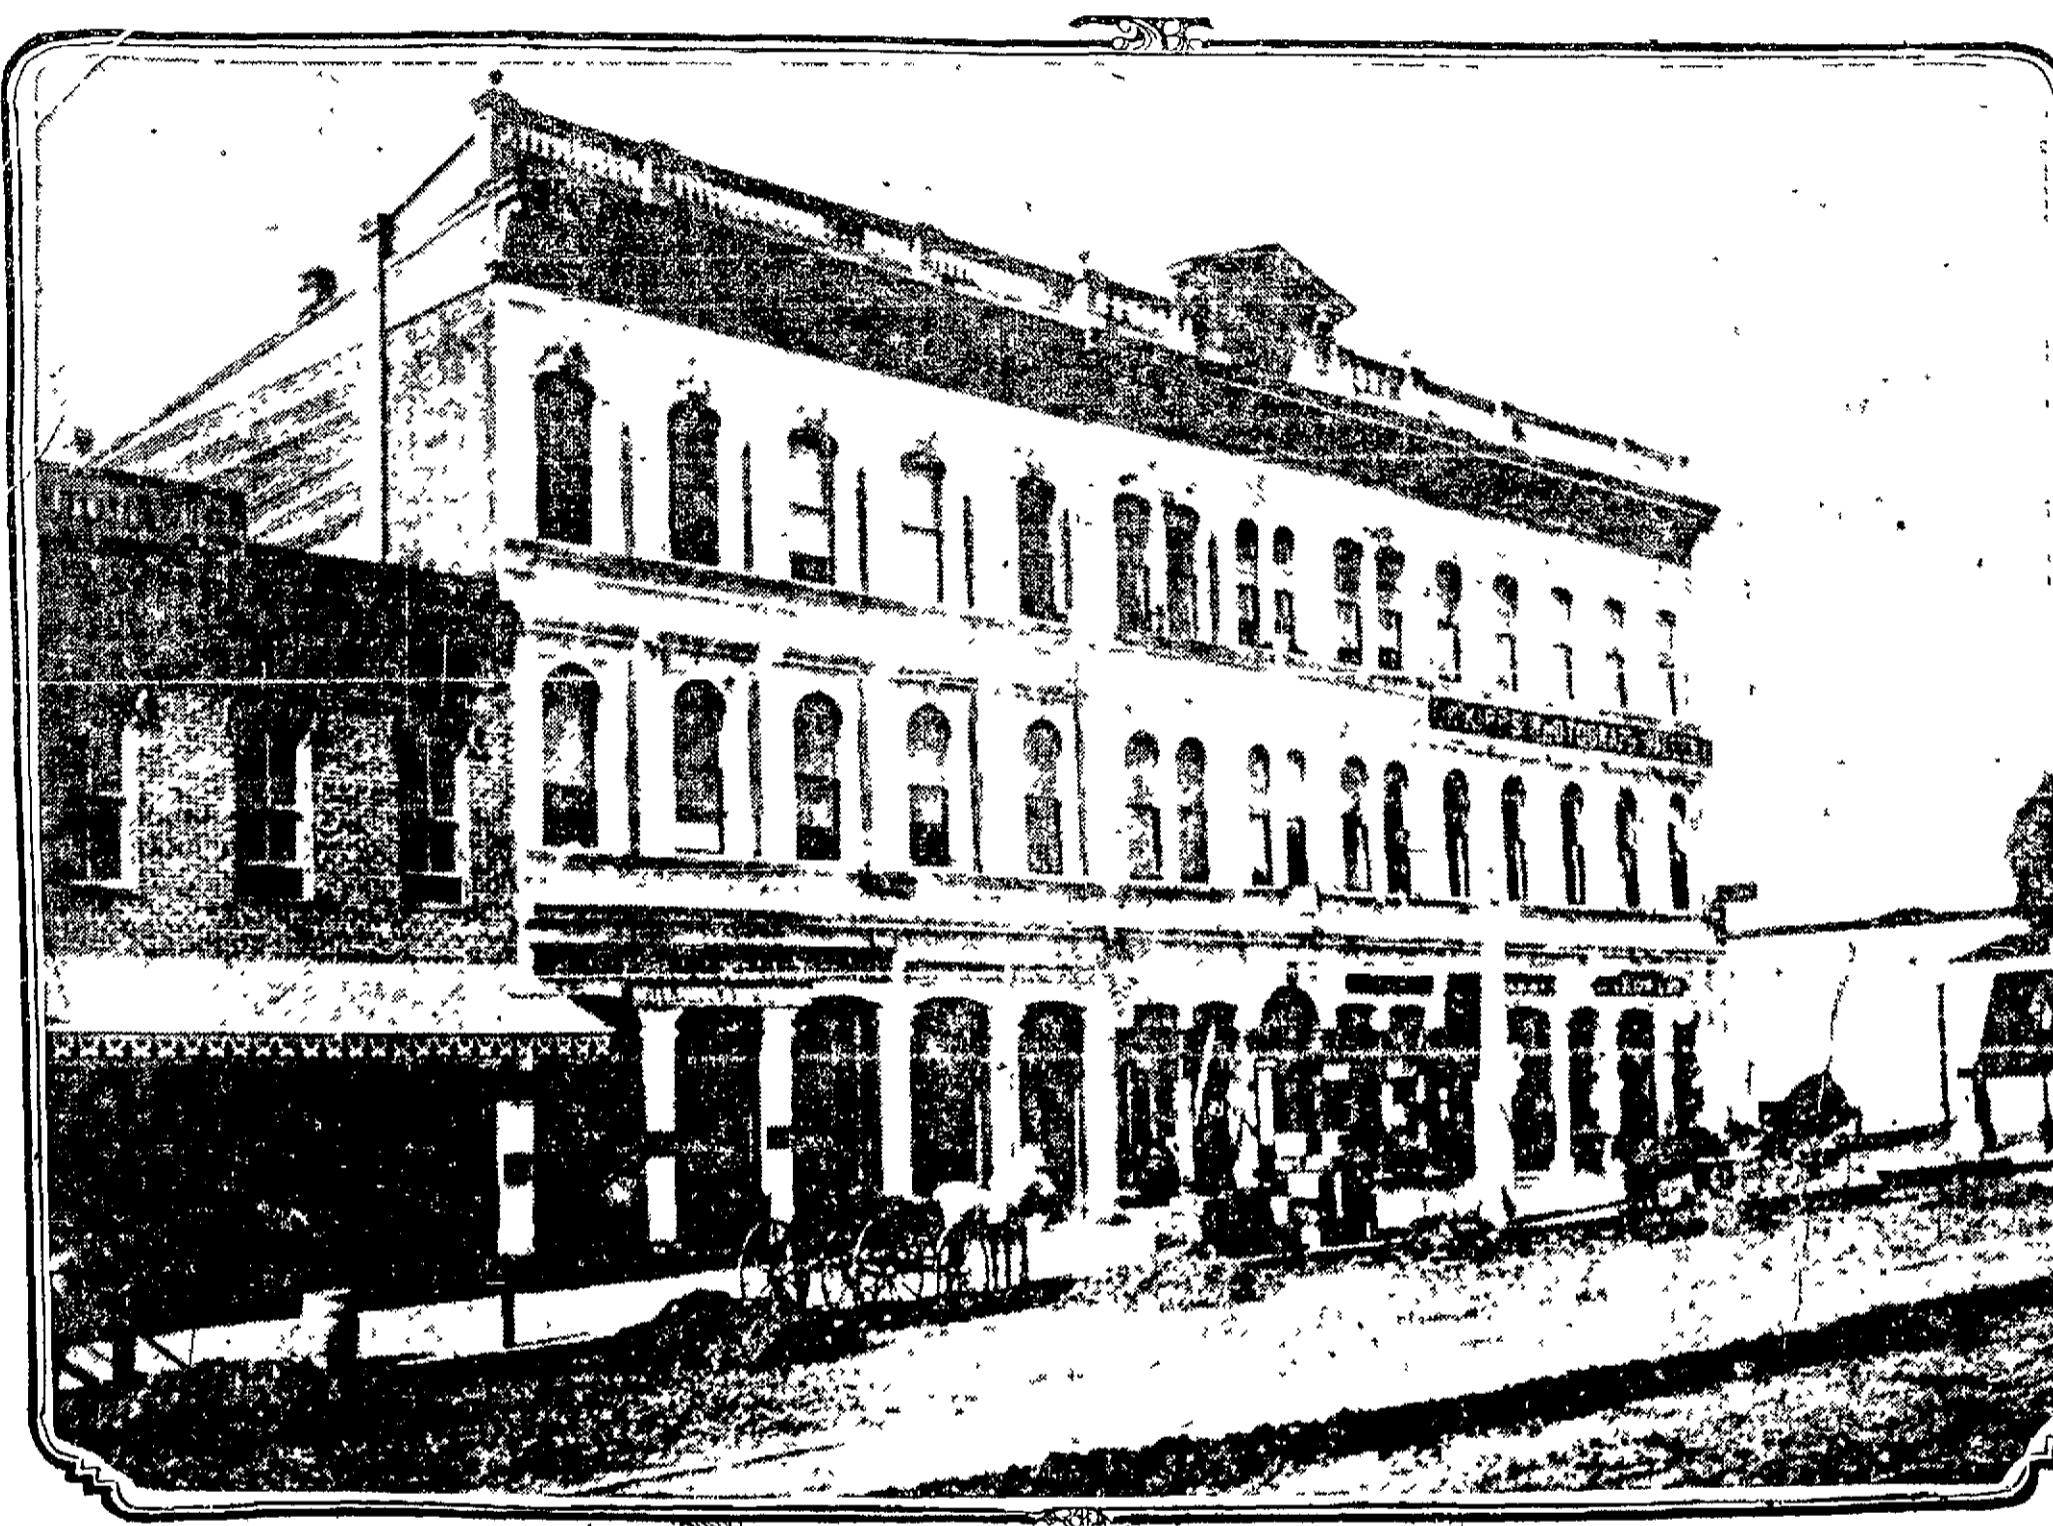

Oakland is mentioned twenty-seven times in the new Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway folder. This city is at last being given proper recognition in the list of railroads, Oakland being the natural terminal point. Rates from the east and other points to Oakland are quoted in the new Santa Fe folder.

After 18 months of work, the business manager of the Portland (Ore.) Journal, while visiting in this city last week, declared his belief in the value of making every improvement and in first class manner. Three carloads of lumber and cement for the Grand View Terrace job have arrived at the Southern Pacific station in Richmond. And more material is on the way.

Plans for making the system of streets and avenues for the Nicholl and Grand View Terrace districts, to the advantage of both these splendid subdivisions, are being drawn out. The result

HOW LANDMARK LOOKED FORTY YEARS AGO

The surroundings have much to do with its appearance. The Wilcox Building, at the southwest corner of Ninth street and Broadway, is a landmark of the city's lower main artery, and was regarded as an important and imposing structure in 1869, when the accompanying photograph was taken. But Broadway was more like a country road, and an uneven one at that, in those days. Notice the smoothness of the asphalt pavement in the later photograph. Rubbish may be seen piled up in huge heaps, in the picture. Boxes and barrels were given space on the sidewalks. The Wilcox block was one of the early homes of the Oakland Bank of Savings, which now occupies an $800,000 modern structure at Twelfth street and Broadway. The institution, wher located in the Wilcox, was in the heart of the business district in 1869, when trade had not reached far beyond Tenth street. The Wells-Fargo Company occupied quarters with the bank. The Wilcox building has been remodeled since 1869.

OAKLAND-SAUSALITO FERRY IS PLANNED

Steamer to Carry Freight and Passengers Between This City and Marin Shore.

Oakland and Sausalito are to be connected by a direct ferry line. T. C. Lauritzen, who is now operating an excursion steamer between San Francisco, Richmond and other bay ports, is to begin on November 1 a schedule between Oakland and Marin county, carrying passengers and light freight.

The steamer will leave the foot of Webster street every morning at 8:30 o'clock, making the run directly to Sausalito. The vessel will then swing around by San Francisco, taking in the exposition site for the benefit of sightseers.

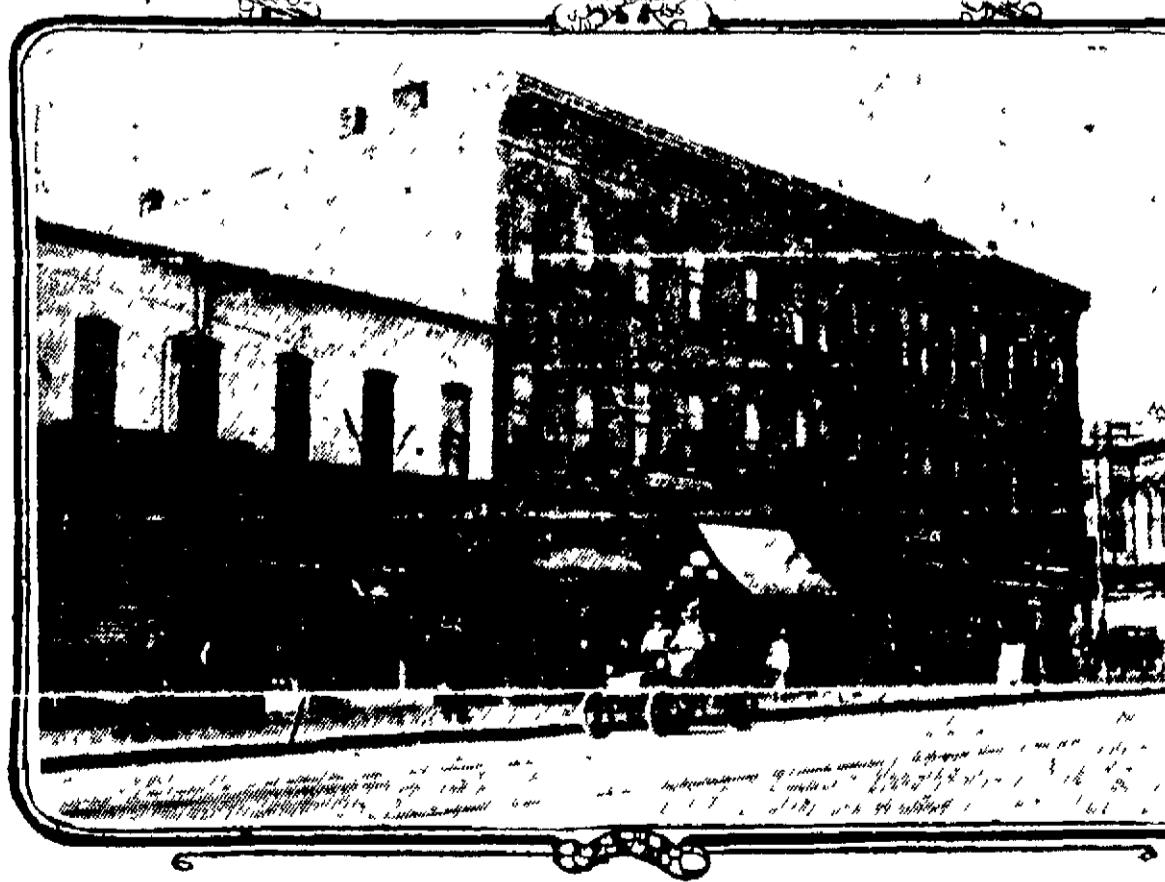

At 12 o'clock the boat will make a trip about the bay past Winchendon, Vallejo and San Francisco, the itinerary being for pleasure purposes only. If the patronage is sufficient later on, and Lauritzen believes it will be, an afternoon trip to Sausalito will be made, necessitating an extra boat.

A great saving will be made by those shipping goods direct between this city and Sausalito, both in time and in the charges.

RUSH IMPROVEMENT OF GRAND VIEW TERRACE

In carrying out their plans of making this tract Richmond's fashionable residence section, Burg Bros. are making every improvement and in first class manner. BAYSIDE LINES HUNTINGTON HOLDINGS?

Southern Traction Magnate Is Reported to Have Secured Stock in Roads.

Money for Extensions About San Francisco Expected to Follow.

Los Angeles Express, October 16. — The Southern Traction Club and the Pacific Electric are still holding rumors that Henry E. Huntington has been engaged in "something big" have been circulated for several weeks. The general was supposed that this referred to some big plans for improvement or near Los Angeles, and the probability of the supposed sale of the Los Angeles railway to Pacific Electric interests was heightened as a result of this gossip.

Now it is stated by a local railroad official that Mr. Huntington has achieved a coup for himself and the Southern Pacific by accomplishing that railroad's great desire to gain a hold on the "Key Route," the system of electric roads around Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley and Piedmont. Although entirely unofficial the statement comes from San Francisco that Mr. Huntington's representative has secured for him—and presumably in part for the Southern Pacific—a decidedly large holding in the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal railway.

These include in one company the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Consolidated Railways, formerly known as the "Key Route"; the Oakland Tramway Company, the Shore and Suburban Railways, and the California Railway, with about 245 miles of track and several miles of ferry routes.

It is common knowledge in San Francisco that one of the great regrets of Southern Pacific heads is that in the plans for gaining control of the electric railway systems of California and Key Routes were allowed to fall into independent hands when they were acquired by the United Properties of California. This is supposed to be remedied in the acquisition of the Huntington holdings in the Key system.

The official is said to have come in the projected waterfront improvements on the Oakland side of the bay under franchises granted to the Key system. These permit it to replace its present long pier, which extends more than three miles into the bay toward Goat Island, with a solid concrete and earth-filled mole 200 feet wide for the entire length, and to construct a system of modern docks and wharves 1000 feet long, combining an immense waterfront project and a big railway terminal.

In addition, the "Key" is not equipped only for passenger traffic, but plans for adding large freight equipment and for serving the Santa Clara and the Sacramento valleys in that respect.

The need of money for these betterments and extensions is said to have brought Mr. Huntington into the Oakland company. No one connected with his interests here would talk about his plans.

EVERY DAY SEES NEW TRACT HOME

Residence Construction in Outlying Berkeley Properties Experiences Boom.

BERKELEY. Oct. 19.—At the rate of one home a day new homes are being erected in the tract property within the eastern and northern boundaries of the city. The boom has been the development of these tracts being marked by actual building. In one tract alone, which contains less than 600 acres, over forty-five homes have been erected, and a score from the possible minimum of $2500 to one house of $22,000, estimated cost.

"Contractors are finding themselves hard pressed to keep up with the demand for new homes. I have eight houses building at the present time, have just closed contracts for five more, and am awaiting the award of contracts for three others besides these. Stand anywhere on the hills back of town, and you will be able to count more than a dozen building at the time. The boom seems to have commenced for sure within the past three months, and it is going ahead in a way that makes well for the future of these portions of the city."

One of the finest residences in the northern part of the city is the new home which is being built for W. H. Baldwin, county engineer. This is to be indeed a large and stately home, of which heavy rocks have had to be blasted.

The rock thus obtained has been utilized in building an ornate retaining wall around the site, and the Baldwin residence will be a stately one.

PURE BLOOD MEANS HEALTHY BODY AND NEW JOY IN LIFE

Sulphurro Brings Relief to Suffering by Freshening and Purifying System.

Health is impossible if the blood is clogged with impurities and germs of disease. All parts of the system are the first step to the invalid and the sufferer is to purify and refresh the red fluid of life. Then Nature can build and heal Sulphurro by introducing the great purifying agent Sulphur into the body through internal treatment and baths, drives out the germs and unhealthy elements that produce disease and prevent the return of health.

Nowhere better in eliminating poisonous germs and restore affected parts is told in a letter written by a Seattle woman whose name will be gladly supplied at the office of the C. M. C. Stewart Sulphur Co., who say:

"I have suffered with a varicose ulcer for about three years. Some months ago I received my first bottle of Sulphurro through the kindness of Mr. Stewart at his home. I took it consistently and as a result the ulcer is healed and I am free from pain for the first time in three years."

"I would indeed be ungrateful were I not willing to offer my testimony for the benefit of any one suffering from the same ailment at any time. I will only be willing to give any further information to any one whom you may see fit to suggest."

"Have you had the Sulphurro booklet? It is accompanied each bottle of Sulphurro and is at the drug store (price 50 cents and $1 per bottle) or will be sent free upon request to the C. M. C. Stewart Sulphur Co., 71 Columbia street, Seattle, Wash."

Order Against Free Storage to Go Into Effect October 25.

Local produce men and shippers are awaiting with considerable interest the result of a new order of the state railroad commission which goes into effect October 25 directed against the free storage of vegetables upon railroad wharves. While the order is directed principally against conditions at Sacramento and Stockton, Oakland and San Francisco will also be affected.

Producers and shippers have been accustomed at almost all shipping points in the state to utilize a great deal of railroad wharf space for their products, avoiding warehouse fees by the simple expedient of leaving produce on the wharves until such time as they were ready to handle it. Under the new order, the transportation companies are permitted to disconnect this practice and charge tolls to tardy shippers.

The order is not mandatory, as understood here, but it is expected that the transportation companies will take advantage of the ruling, with the possible result that the consumer will

University of California Ruggers Show Improvement in Work Against Barbarians

CALIFORNIA RUGGERS PLAY WELL WITH BARBARIANS

Varsity Men Are Forced to Play Fiercely Against the Unexpected Strength of Their Opponents

By MARSHALL EVANS.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Oct. 19.—One of the largest crowds that has visited California Field this season saw the California Varsity administer a 16-3 defeat to the Barbarian Rugby team yesterday. The game was fiercely fought throughout and the Barbs showed unexpected strength. Though outclassed by their opponents in scoring ability, they put up a strong defense, with the result that the Californians were forced to their utmost at every stage of the game.

The game was largely in the nature of a further tryout for the uncertain members of the California squad. Coach Schaeffer sent in a total of twenty-three men during the course of the contest. Clint Evans was practically the only man of real varsity caliber who was not seen in action. Evans' injured ankle still prevents him from playing and his absence is a considerable loss to the three-quarters. The, though in yesterday's contest, freshman Graf and Ginnell showed exceptionally well in Evans' usual place at wing.

The Blue and Gold scrum presented a different appearance from anything that has been seen on the field this season. Douglas and Carpenter were tried out at the middle rank positions and Fletcher and McKinnon appeared as breakaways. Dills, Meyer, Fish, Porter and Crane were all given a chance at the front rank, but their work was of mediocre quality. At hooking the ball, they were generally beaten out by the combined efforts of Parker, Livingston and Gibson of the Barbs.

BARBS EXCEL IN SCRUM.

In fact, in the entire work of the forward division, the Barbs seemed to have a shade on the Californians. That the score was not much larger, is due entirely to the work of the Barbarian scrum. They hooked the ball to their backs fully two-thirds of the time, and even when the Varsity front rankers did get out, the Barbs breakaways, Bowers and Brown, were around the pack with the speed of hounds and succeeded in nipping in the bud every passing rush of their opponents before it was fairly under way.

CALIFORNIA SCORES EARLY.

Early in the first half, after play had centered in midfield for several minutes, Fullback Pogardus of California booted from the forty yard line to touch near the Barbarian goal. Following the line-out, the Varsity forwards dribbled over the line and Fish ended on the ball. Strong converted, and the score stood California 5, Barbarians 0. On two occasions immediately following, the Barbs' goal was threatened, but at both times quick work in saving averted tangles. A short time later, California nearly scored again and were only prevented from doing so by the poor work of their backs. Allen found touch on the Barbarian 5, and a passing rush for the goal was stopped, only to be broken up by poor passing. Shortly before half time, Lane of California got away from the ruck with a brilliant thirty-five yard run. He was unopposed, however, and his efforts brought no results on the score board.

California secured her second try just before the end of the first half, as a result of a passing rush. Stroud to Lane, then Graf, who scored, planting the ball squarely between the goal posts. Peart failed a simple conversion. Score: California 8, Barbarians 0.

BARBARIANS SCORE.

Early in the second half, rough work on the part of the Varsity resulted in Referee Fuller's granting a free kick to the Barbs. Brown responded with a place kick squarely between the posts, making the tally stand 8 to 3. Following this play, was forced deep into the Barbarian territory, where Boskine picked from the loose and went over for California's third try. Stroud failed to convert.

The longest single piece of ground gained by work of the day came when McElroy of the Barbs broke from the scrum and tore toward the California goal. He was tackled by Montgomery and passed to Howard, who was subsequently downed to Howard, who was subsequently downed. The play netted the Barbs only twenty-five yards, but the ball was still twenty-five yards from the California goal and this intervening distance was never traversed.

The last try of the game came after a series of cross kicks, followed by a dribbling rush on the part of the California forwards. Douglas secured from the loose and went over for a score, making the final tally 18 to 3.

IMPORTANCE OF GOOD ROADS IS EMPHASIZED

Main Arteries of Communication Necessary Between Thickly Settled Regions

While the value and necessity of first-class county and township roads is generally recognized, it is the result of costly experience in various States that there must be a development of trunk line highways in the establishment of comprehensive State road systems. This question is involved vitally in the present New York State situation. Of the 80,000 miles of road in the State, 4000 have been improved as State or county highways, 4000 macadamized as town roads, 10,000 miles improved by towns as gravel roads, and some 40,000 miles have been shaped to some extent, with approximately 26,000 miles remaining in their original condition. It was in the general election of 1905 that the constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of bonds to the extent of $50,000,000 was voted upon favorably, the necessary legal enactments being adopted by the Legislature that followed.

It was at this time, coincident to the development of the automobile—which was now over 160,000 in New York State—that there came a strong demand for through routes to serve as the nucleus of a system of main arteries of communication. These State highways now comprising approximately 3,500 miles, connecting principal centers of population, and forming a skeleton system of National roads when the Federal government itself enters energetically into the highways situation, which is assuming such country-wide import that any further delay in giving it attention will not be accepted without protest on the part of both the man who lives in the country and the man who travels afar these days owing to improved roads.

HUNT FOR JOB IN MOTOR CAR

Sunburned Omaha Boys Seek Employment With Aid of Studebaker "30."

"As regards the character of construction, the trunk lines must be more designed more nobly and built more substantially than the less important county highways. If it could be said that standards have been established, they are that padded macadam with hot oil surface treatment is the cheapest construction used, asphalt macadam on more important routes, and so on to mixed asphalt macadam, bitulithic, and brick construction in the vicinity of large cities, the idea in every instance being to suit the construction to the traffic conditions."

"One reason why the roads in Massachusetts have become so joltingly bad is that in the State the trunk line idea has not been carried out to the end. Had we been similarly fortunate in the way of highways legislation, today the State of New York would have a system of highways unequalled by any in the world."

Following the lead of Massachusetts and its subsequent adoption by New York, Hunting for a job by motor car is certainly an up-to-date crinkle in motoring, or to say the least, a new use to which an automobile may be put. The scheme has probably never been tried out before, that is, until three sunburned youths from Omaha arrived in this city a few days ago after having driven a Studebaker "30" of the vintage of 1910 from the Nebraska metropolis, across the Rockies, Utah, Nevada, the Sierras thence to this coast. The owner of the car, Herbert Wichterman, is considerably under 25 years of age and his two companions, Paul Bergers and Martin McGuire, have a few more miles stones to pass before they may cast their ballots.

Wichterman, Bergers and McGuire are intrepid lads and in their "bright lexicon of youth" there is no such word as "failure." They set out to do what they're not going to be done. California lured them and here they want to stay. Their only perplexity now is whether it is to be in San Francisco or in Los Angeles that they are to achieve their fame. "The fair city looks good to us," they admit, "but we want to take a stroll down El Camino real and give Los Angeles and Southern California, 'the once over' before we decide." They expect to be in San Francisco.

The "stroll" down the coast will be made in their Studebaker which, while up to the present time has a record of nearly 20,000 miles to its credit, has not run into any trouble. The young men have learned to believe as much in their car as they do in themselves. "The old car has a good clean score and she isn't going to lay down now," they declare with emphasis.

Ever since their departure from Omaha

Good cars galore, for 1913, at a low price. But still, as of old, your eye hunts out the Hupmobile in a motor-crowded street. Still, as of old, in action or repose, it looms head and shoulders above "the common herd" of cars.

Just as distinct, just as different, just as dominant today as though a dozen other cars of like price did not exist.

Go to your dealer tomorrow and he will show you why.

How to Judge the True Value of the Hupmobile

Go to our local branch and you will see the latest Hupmobile model standing on the salesroom floor—handsome in its finish of royal black and ready for the road with every equipment necessary for driving comfort.

But—we ask you not to let your first favorable impression end with your admiration of the graceful design, the low, strong lines, the deep, comfortable upholstery of the long-stroke Hupmobile. We want you to go deeper into this car—to examine its motor, its transmission and its side construction; for your good opinion of the car will surely increase in proportion to the care with which you study its parts.

Hupmobile Predominant in Its Pulling Power

First, last and all the time let us emphasize the pulling power of this extraordinary car. For a motor car's ability to get over the road—to make the grades—to haul the load—in truthfully defined by its pulling power and by nothing else. These are the requisites you want in a motor car—in addition to style, comfort and economy, all of which the long-stroke Hupmobile "32" possesses in a high degree.

AGENTS EXPECT 1913 HUPMOBILE

New Hup "32" Has All of Old Features and Many New Advantages.

S. G. Chapman, distributor for Northern California for the Hupmobile car, announces that the 1913 model "32" Hupmobile will be in San Francisco within the next day or two. This will be welcome news to the host of Hupmobile owners who are anxious to see this new model.

The new 1913 model "32" Hupmobile will embrace all the best features of former Hupmobiles, and will have some new ones that will appeal strongly to motorists.

S. G. Chapman, Northern California distributor, the distributor of the Hupmobiles of the new models said: "The Hupmobile factory has made every effort this season to put out a car that will appeal to every man who wants a machine that will be under all conditions reliable. This has been the paramount issue I might say, with the factory, how well they have succeeded motorists can judge by inspecting the new models."

The new lighting system is standard in every car, and will develop sufficient light for both head and tail lamps besides furnishing illumination for any night repair work, in case of need.

The Hupmobile factory, with its new additions expects to be able to keep up with the extraordinary demand for cars which is pouring in from all over the country."

OLD FIRE STEEDS BEING DISPLACED

New Rochelle Department Is Motorized, Including the "Flying Squadron."

Samuel Crim, head of the Reliance Auto Company, has received recently a letter concerning the entire motorization of the fire and police departments at New Rochelle, N. Y., in which was the information that a Knox combination chemical and hose fire truck and a Knox flying squadron machine were in use. The combination truck equipped with an 80-gallon chemical tank while the body has capacity for 1200 feet of 3½-inch water hose. The body is arranged with lockers along each side in which firemen carry special fire clothing. The chassis consists of 40-horse power 4-cylinder motor, mounted on standard Knox fire chassis, with special heavy three-speed transmission and chain driven to rear axle. The machine is a powerful hill climber. The flying squadron will carry about 1000 feet of hose and will be in connection with the police department to rush men to fires, to keep back crowds and assist firemen in their work. It has a special equipment of one hand extinguisher and special fire tools.

UNDERSLUNG NEWS WINNING TITLE

New House Organ of American Motors Company Adopts Novel Name.

"The Underslung News" is the name of the new house organ of the American Motors Company of Indianapolis, the first number of which appeared last month. A. J. Denford, of Oklahoma City, Okla., receives $25 for the name, his suggestion having been selected by a committee of representatives of every department of the American factory organization.

The caption of the first number of the new house organ was mostly international, and an inside article set forth that an appropriate name for the publication was being sought. Following American policies, it was proposed to make the house organ a thoroughly democratic institution and the public was asked to suggest the name. The flood of titles which came to the factory were listed without the names of the senders when submitted to the committee and Mr. Denford's suggestion was the choice.

"The Underslung News", which will be especially devoted to the interests of American cars, dealers and owners, will be published monthly.

GOODYEAR COMPANY PRINTS TIRE BOOKLET

"The Care of an Automobile Tire", a small booklet published by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., is going through its fourth edition and rapidly approaching its three hundred thousandth.

The first edition was published in March, 1909, at which time 87,600 copies were printed. The second edition of June, 1911, contained 105,000 copies and the third edition of June, 1912, 80,200. It was recently decided to revise the book again, and 30,000 copies of this revision have been ordered. The booklet is distributed wherever the Goodyear tire is used, the various branches being the points of distribution.

An unobstructed clean sweep

OVER two hundred telegraphic demands on this car shoot in and out of our plant every day. The telegraphic companies tell us we are one of their largest individual customers in the world. It is certain we are, by far, the largest in the automobile business. Our daily volume of telegrams and cables is so enormous that it requires our own private staff of operators to handle it.

Since the announcement of this car it has become almost impossible to keep accurate account of our daily mail. To count the separate pieces of first class matter would be impractical. About all we can do is to check off the truck loads of U. S. mail bags and let it go at that.

Our annual production will be 40,000 cars. Our October production schedule called for 150 cars a day, which we are shipping right now. We could ship 500 a day if we had them. For the last 30 days we have been over 3000 cars behind our immediate shipping orders. This model has had an unobstructed clean sweep. It has gone before everything. Nothing can stop it, for nothing on earth can touch it.

Practically every important 1913 announcement has been made. A careful examination of these announcements will prove precisely what we have been claiming—that there is not a $1200 car built that has any more practical value to offer than this one for $985.

And here are the comparative facts which support this seemingly bold statement.

Automobile values must be looked at from several different angles. You must consider not only the price, but what that price buys you. You must take into consideration the power, the strength, the beauty, the construction, the size, the appearance and the equipment of the car. You must judge a car by the material in it; the workmanship on it; the methods employed to produce it; and last but not least, the facilities behind the production methods.

Examine each one of these fundamentals in this Overland at $985 and you will find a car that is identical with any $1,200 car in the world. Go further and you find high-grade construction and painstaking care in finish that equal the production methods employed in the making of any $5,000 car you know of.

This car has the power of a $1200 car; it has the strength of a $1200 car; it has the size of a $1200 car; it has the seating capacity of a $1200 car; it has the wheel base of a $1200 car; it has the chassis construction of a $1200 car; it has the comfort of a $1200 car; it has the beauty and finish of a $1200 car.

Take the equipment item alone. It has a Warner speedometer—the best made; it has a fine mohair top and boot; it has a clear vision wind shield; it has a self-starter and Prestolite tank—every practical accessory made for an automobile. And all for the one price—$985. There are no "extras."

Then there are those important construction features which are only found on the very high-priced cars. This model has a drop-forged I beam section front axle, fitted with the famous Timken bearings; a three-quarter floating rear axle fitted with Hyatt bearings; a selective transmission, with three speeds forward and reverse, fitted with annular bearings, and a cold rolled pressed steel frame. It has the center control. The brakes are unusually large for a car of this size and power, and are ample for cars of much greater weight. There are two powerful sets—internal expanding and external contracting. The great braking surface of these is indicated by their dimensions—13 inches by 2½ inches each. These are the brake dimensions you find on $1,500 cars. Pick up the catalogue of any $1,500 car and see for yourself. The springs are semi-elliptic front, three-quarter elliptic rear. Each spring has six leaves. Tires are 32x3½ Q. D.

This model is superbly finished. The striking body is in dark Overland blue. Battleship gray wheels harmonize perfectly with the rich, dark body which is trimmed in black and nickel plate.

How can we market this car at this price? By making 40,000 cars a year. Increased production brings decreased selling prices. There is the answer in six small words.

France is famous for its automobiles, yet we turn out in one year as many cars as all the French factories combined. The United Kingdom is equally famous for motor cars, yet we almost double the combined output of all the English factories under the sun. The Overland factories alone, make nearly three times as many cars as the combined factories of Germany. And when you total the annual automobile production of such countries as Holland, Russia and Sweden, you find they do not make as many cars as some of our individual dealers handle in one single year.

We have more agents in some states than most American factories have in all the United States. We export more cars than the annual output of any automobile factory in Europe. Some of our American dealers alone, take more cars annually than most American factories turn out in a year. That is what 40,000 cars a year means. And that, and only that, is why we can make and market for $985 what others are forced to get $1200 for.

We want to place the utmost importance on the fact that the big value of this car is found in the vital things that really establish "big value." That is, such things as the long wheel base, the big motor, the splendid rear axle unit, the large and roomy five passenger body—the springs, the brakes, the high grade bearings, the pressed steel frame, the complete equipment, etc.

Any man who pays over $985 for a completely equipped, 30 horsepower, five passenger touring car of this type and size is just wasting money.

See this Model "69" at our salesroom in your city at once. Order early if you want it early.

SEEING SEATTLE IN NEW CADILLAC

Seeing Seattle on high gear in the new Cadillac is a new padding introduced by M. S. Brigham, of the Brigham Motor Car Company, of that city. Seattle is pretty nearly the final test for automobiles that care to wrestle with grades. In comparison with the western metropolis the seven hills of Rome are of nothing. The town is one of the few on the continent that could make an ancient cliff dweller seem at home. As a matter of fact it is generally considered plenty good enough for a car set over those formidable Seattle elevations on low gear. At that it has left many a car ready to take the count.

MOTOR TRUCK INDUSTRY AVAILABLE FOR OAKLAND

Commercial motor trucks are firmly establishing their permanency in the East, and will do likewise on the Pacific Coast. With this in mind Robert H. Bronner, motor-truck designer, has come to Oak-land, stopping at 1412 E. 20th street. With the intention of interesting local capital in his new models of one, two, three and ten ton capacities, Mr. Bronner recently designed and implemented a three-ton motor truck at The Foden Manufacturing Co., San Leandro, and from the several tests given this truck has carefully prepared his future models with excessive strength and motor power, to meet the requirements of Pacific Coast service. Mr. Bronner came to California a year ago from the East, where he has been in the service as designer for various automobile and motor truck companies. He sees a great future for Oakland and vicinity as a manufacturing center, and is also a booster for Pacific Coast production which is bound to come, especially the possibil-

FORD CAR WAS SMALL BUT IT GOT THERE

DETROIT, Oct. 19.—"Out of Milwaukee a while back", said the fat Ford chauffeur with the double chin. "Then we took a little old regular Model T out of stock like taking a two dollar derby off the shelf for a hired man, and put her in a hill climbing race against a lot of big 40 and 60 and 90 horsepower cabones, and after she had mounted in first, saying tut, tut, in a repeating chiding sort of way, in rapid succession by car loads for the meet."

The factory is just finishing up a large quantity for the Overland and McFarland territory.

McFarland left the latter part of last week for Fresno, where he will be joined by Oscar Olsen, and the two will jointly cover the territory south of San Fran-cisco. McFarland expects that on the time he returns, the new models will be here.

Some women are very easily pleased.

TELEPHONE GIRLS ON MOTOR OUTING

Fifty bright-eyed pretty telephone girls employed in the leading business houses in San Francisco, had a delightful motor outing and lunch on last Wednesday. The fifty girls were taken in a string of Oakland cars, were driven around San Fran- cisco, and then to the office of Mayor Rolph, where they were received with a light luncheon, provided with a host of candy and a big bunch of flowers, and then, after another ride over the city in the afternoon, were invited to the home of the members to lunch on the machine.

Don't Be a Skeptic!

Come and See for Yourself That I Have Made Dentistry Painless.

When I say that my Terry-thesis method has banished the terrors of the dental chair, I do not just talk. I believe in my method, and so does every one who comes to "challenge" my claim that an entirely different matter.

Everybody knows that it is the practice of dentists to pull the teeth like the take-late-leave. It is a short to attract the credulous, etc., since dentists became a "recognized" profession. Well, it is not for the fact that the public has become suspicious of the dental profession that I have made dentistry painless, but for the reason that I have found a more honest and more effective method of preventing pain.

So, until the publication of my Terry-thesis, you will not be known as a "crown" dentist without causing pain. If you have ever noticed most of the so-called "painless" dentists lay great stress on their ability to pull teeth painlessly. Now, think of the fun of their little game. Patients extracting teeth just as far as they can go, and no farther.

Extracting is always a last resort with me. I never pull a tooth that's worth saving, some except. There is a dental method that does more perfectly and safely in order to make room for a future I maintain that such practice is nothing short of criminal.

There is absolutely no need of an apetite to pull a tooth, or believe so long as two or three bad teeth remain in the jaws. By means of my Rex Alveolar method I replace missing teeth so cleverly that only an expert, after a close inspection, could detect them from real teeth.

I've equipped thousands of mouths with Rex Alveolar teeth during the past five years, and I do not know of a single case where they have not given perfect satisfaction.

With Alveolar teeth you can eat what you want, when you want it. Once in the jaws they are there to stay and will give you no bother of any kind.

At the moment I am offering of this "Don't be a skeptic." Call at my office (either San Francisco or Oakland) for a free consultation, and give me a chance to show you whether or not I am capable of doing what I claim. Work without payment obligations to have my work done unless you see fit. Hours—8:30 to 5:30; Sundays, 10 to 12.

Those who cannot call should write for the free book explaining my Terry-thesis and Alveolar methods.

NEED MORE HELP IN ISLAND SERVICE

Uncle Sam Has Now Over Nine Thousand Teachers There and Needs More

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The director of education of the Philippine Islands, who is visiting in this country, says, in speaking of the Filipinos:

"We are not trying to make good Americans of them, but are trying to make good Filipinos, and we are succeeding. We have established, as generally as possible throughout the archipelago, an educational system which we hope will give the greatest possible number of the islanders the kind of education which will do them the greatest possible good as islanders."

An enrollment of over half a million children in the public schools, taught and supervised by over nine thousand American and Filipino teachers with very practical courses of study from the primary grades up through the professional colleges of the Philippine University, seems to substantiate the conclusion of the director of education.

The work being done in the educational authorities in the Philippines is, in many ways, one of the most successful accomplishments of administration of the islands. It is a field where young men and women of superior qualifications, excellent character and good preparation, have the best of opportunities to take a large part in the solution of some of the problems now confronting the country, and at the same time gain an experience and training which will be of great value.

The government employs men as supervisors, teachers of English, mathematics, science, manual training and agriculture, and women for home economics.

FEMININE ROYALTY OF EUROPE IS AFFECTED

Balkan War Bursts Matrimonial Alliances With Kingdoms.

QUEEN HELENA OF ITALY MAY BECOME WAR NURSE

Servia and Montenegro Inseparably Linked by Lovely Women.

(BY COUNT EPHBERG)

BERLIN, October 19.—While no one can fail to feel the ominous portents of the Balkan war to the peace of Europe there is a peculiar, unique and far-reaching interest in the struggle that has not yet received public attention. That is the number of royal houses of Europe associated by the case of family connection with the warring states, and their lovely women thus sentimentally affected.

Were the contestants members of the imperial houses with these varied matrimonial alliances, this extent of interest would be easily understood, but that the present tragedy of these minor nations should affect most of the king and imperial households is hard to understand until one looks into the family connections of Servia, Montenegro, Bulgaria and Greece.

Princess Mirko of Montenegro, one of the loveliest and most picturesque figures in Europe, is the daughter of Colone Constantanovich, uncle of the late King Alexander of Servia, who with his wife Queen Draga, was done to death by assassins when the dynasty of Obrenovitch was extinguished. The ambitious Colonel Constantanovich, by the by, had hoped to see his daughter on the Servian throne; to marry her to King Alexander.

ON FIELD OF BATTLE.

Now this gentle woman is on the vast mountain slopes, where the war is raging, sooths the pain of her husband's countrymen. And other Montenegrin Princesses and others who have married into those houses have offered with enthusiasm their services as nurses. Now would it surprise the nations if the lovely Queen Helena of Italy, who invigorated the house of Savoy with her Montenegrin blood, should also offer her services in the Montenegrin Red Cross army of pity.

One hears too that Crown Princess Miliza of Montenegro is begging her husband to let her go to the front to serve in the hospital corps. She was Princess Jutta of Mecklenburg and took the peculiarly Montenegrin name Miliza when she married the Crown Prince in 1880.

Another Montenegrin Princess who may be saving the hurts of the wounded is the great Princess Maria, who also offers another international link in that she married Grand Duke Peter Nicholovitch of Russia and who like her sisters, is famous for her pulchritude.

Yet another Montenegrin Princess has an international alliance. This is the Princess Anastasia who, after a divorce became the wife of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholovitch.

The wife of King Peter of Servia was a Princess of Montenegro; his daughter, Princess Helena, wed a prince of Russia, Jean Constantanovich.

Ferdinand of Bulgaria, Czar of the Bulgarians, took as his second wife, Princess Eleanor of Reuss, an ancient, numerous and powerful family, abounding in princesses whose sympathies must be intensely excited by the war.

FASCINATING WOMEN.

One of the most fascinating women in Europe is the Crown Princess Marie of Rumania, who while holding off from participation in the conflict, is full of sympathy for the members of the Balkan League. She was a Princess of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. Nor should it be forgotten that the King of Rumania is a Prince of Hohenzollern.

Turning now to Greece, the southern ally of the Balkan states, there stands King George of the Hellenes, who is at once uncle of King George of England, of Czar Nicholas of Russia and King Frederick of Denmark.

As to the international connections of his family, Prince Constantine of Greece wed Princess Sophie of Russia. Prince Nicholas took to wife Grand Duchess Helena Vladimirovna of Russia.

There is a connection also with non-religious but royal families, for Prince George of Greece, the King's second son, married the beautiful Princess Marie Bonaparte and so forms an alliance of sympathy with all the varied Napoleonic connections.

PIONEER WOMAN OF OAKLAND DIES

Mrs. Adelia A. Stroufe Passes Away at Daughter's Home.

Mrs. Adelia A. Stroufe, for 25 years resident of Oakland, died last Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Thomas, in Ukiah.

Mrs. Stroufe was born in Des Moines county, Iowa, on June 24, 1856; she came to California in 1882, and went first to Petaluma, being then but a girl of 16. She was married on October 1, 1884, for nearly 30 years she had lived in Oakland, being taken to Ukiah about three weeks before her death to the home of her daughter, the plan being for her to live the rest of her life with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas.

The funeral services were held on Wednesday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, and were private, only a few members of the family being present. The remains were brought to Oakland, and cremated.

Mrs. Stroufe is survived by an only child, Mrs. W. F. Thomas of Ukiah, her husband having died in Humboldt county 34 years ago.

ROOSEVELT HAS NOT PASSED DANGER MARK IN HIS ILLNESS

JOHNSON MUST COME HOME OR QUIT

Colonel Has Setback After Consultation With Leaders Concerning Campaign.

Insists That Governor of This State Return and Conduct
His Office.

(By JOHN P. PRATT)

MERCY HOSPITAL, CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Colonel Roosevelt's physician, tonight issued a bulletin which startled those who had become sanguine at his rapid recovery and the announcement that he was to leave the hospital Monday. The bulletin announced that all danger had not passed, but to the contrary "sufficient time has not elapsed for repair of such a serious wound to take place."

The bulletin was immediately flashed to Progressive headquarters at the La Salle Hotel. Governor Johnson, on being notified of its import, became seriously alarmed and asked that he be kept in close touch with later developments.

The Colonel's physicians appeared perturbed tonight for the first time since the Colonel's condition seemed to improve so rapidly.

MRS. ROOSEVELT WORRIED.

Mrs. Roosevelt was genuinely worried at the unfavorable news and said that she felt slightly to blame for letting so many people see the Colonel today.

Mrs. Roosevelt announced that no one would be allowed to see the Colonel tonight. The bulletin was issued at 7:30 o'clock tonight and is as follows:

Records show pulse 84, temperature 98.4, last respiration 18. He is fatigued tonight from having undertaken to respond to some of the importunities of his friends. While he has today probably passed the crisis he is not at all beyond the range of danger. It is only by continued care and absolute rest which we have tonight strictly ordered that the favorable progress which his case has been making can be maintained. The swelling in the chest has diminished, but the possibilities of infection are not passed. The difficulty is to make him appreciate that while his general vigor appears good, a sufficient time has not elapsed for repair of such a serious wound to take place.

JOHN B. MURPHY.
ARTHUR D. BEVAN,
ALEXANDER LAMBERT,
SCURRY L. TERRELL.

COLONEL MUST SLOW UP.

"Does this bulletin mean that the plans for the Colonel's departure Monday have been changed?" Dr. Terrell was asked.

"Not at all," he replied firmly. "The meaning is that the Colonel will have to slow up if he expects to make rapid progress toward recovery."

Colonel Roosevelt today plunged into active control of his fight for the Presidency, passing out commands from the sick room.

Although the ex-President's physicians advised him to go slow for a while and let his managers do the work, Roosevelt, chafing under the restraint imposed on him since he was struck down in Milwaukee, insisted on handling affairs himself.

When the wounded Colonel learned that his doctors at Mercy Hospital on arriving this morning that everything had been fixed for his leaving Chicago next Monday he gave a whoop of delight.

"That's the way to talk," chuckled the ex-president. "In a few days I'll be making speeches again. We'll stir 'em up."

"Not in a few days," interposed Dr. Alexander Lambert, his New York physician sternly. "I'm going to watch you when you get back to Oyster Bay. No speeches go until I give the word."

THREE FOOL HE SAID.

"Cruel soul," protested the Colonel. "I suppose you'll like to lock me up with ball and chain after all this."

Dr. Lambert urged the colonel that although the wound is entirely healed and the danger from blood poisoning had passed, he must realize that quiet is needed to restore the system to its normal poise.

"How can any man's system be normal in the heat of a campaign?" demurred Roosevelt with a laugh.

As soon as Dr. Lambert was out of the room, Roosevelt summoned his stenographer and said he must see Frank Johnson of California at once.

The governor had stayed over in town and the stenographer quickly located him at hotel.

DR. J. B. MURPHY, chief surgeon in charge of Roosevelt. Below is the White House Hotel, in New York, where Schrank lived.

The governor hastened to the hospital and conferred with Roosevelt for an hour.

The ex-president urged him on Johnson that he return to California where he must go at once if he is to hold his job as governor.

Johnson's two years to serve of his term and under this law he will forfeit the governorship if he does not get back.

The law out there provides that no governor shall absent himself from office for more than two months running. Johnson has been away all but a few days of that period now.

FEARS FOR JOHNSON.

"Governor, I realize the sacrifice you have made in keeping so long away from your office," began the Colonel in a serious tone. "I am told that if you do not hurry back they will take the governorship away from you. Now I want you to go back. Leave the campaign to me. I can handle it all right. Soon I'm going to be at my old job and I'll leave the fight myself."

Colonel Johnson marveled at the bold idea that Roosevelt, convalescing from the bullet wound, would take command again.

"You can't do it, Colonel," he protested. "You will need to build up your strength. I won't."

"Fiddlesticks!" interrupted the Colonel. "You'll do what I say. I never felt any stronger in my life. It's all a matter of being able to breath easier with this splintered rib. That won't bother me more than a few days. Then they can't hold me back."

THREATENS TO RESIGN.

Roosevelt that he wanted to stay in the fight.

"I'm needed," he went on. "I'm going to let them take the governorship. I'll resign."

Leaning out from the arm chair in which he sat Roosevelt cracked his right foot down a table to force him to sit up. A sharp pain went through the breast pierced by the bullet.

"I tell you, governor, you'll not do it," faltered the colonel, so vehemently that Mrs. Roosevelt, in the next room, stepped to the doorway.

"You must be quiet, Theodore," croak Mrs. Roosevelt. "It's a warning finger."

After a brisk interchange of opinion as to the feasibility of the governor giving up the campaign, Johnson bade the colonel a goodbye and left the hospital.

As he passed out Johnson said he had promised the Colonel to talk the matter over with other leaders before deciding what to do.

GOVERNOR OBDURATE.

"He insists that I return to California and I insist that I won't," explained the governor. "We couldn't agree."

Later Governor Johnson conferred at his hotel with William Alden White, Francis J. Heney and other Bull Moose leaders. The governor was dubious in his decision to stick in the race.

"Colonel Roosevelt is in no shape to take up the responsibility," he said. "It is but an evidence of his magnanimity that he urges me to return to California."

The governor later in the night decided he would make known his decision tomorrow.

Besides trying to hand Governor Roosevelt his orders to return home, Roosevelt dictated a bristling reply to Governor Wilson and Louis D. Brandeis for criticism upon the trust regulation theories projected by the Colonel.

COLONEL'S TIME LAGS.

After disposing of Wilson and Governor Johnson, the ex-president, finding time lagging, began to lay plans for returning to Oyster Bay. It was at this time of course that he took off his coat. He would have been away with a raft of speeches and he amused himself trying to think where they would be most effective. Dr. Lambert stepped into the room as the Colonel was in profound thought.

THREATENS TO RESIGN.

Roosevelt that he wanted to stay in the fight.

"I'm needed," he went on. "I'm going to let them take the governorship. I'll resign."

STATE BOARD'S WOMAN FIGHTS FATE HINGES ON BILL

If Free Text Book Measure
Passes School Heads
May Fall.

Ambiguous Reading of Mea-

Busy.

If the free text book amendment carries on November 5 California will be without a state board of education until June 1. This startling conclusion has been reached by county and state educators and attorneys who claim to have discovered a serious defect in Constitutional Amendment No. 2, sufficient to entail great confusion and uncertainty if the measure is adopted by the voters of the state.

The trial all comes from the fact that the text book amendment carries a provision which it is believed will automatically end the term of the present board of education without providing for any temporary organization until the legislature can re-organize the governing board.

So serious is the situation that a special meeting of the state board has been called for November 8 at Sacramento by State Superintendent Hyatt to endeavor to wind up as much as possible the affairs of the present board and pave the way for a

MEETING

Suffragist Interrupts Candidate and Force is Necessary to Eject Her.

Shouts at Governor and Uses
Fists When Police Take Her to Jail.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Miss Maude Malone the suffrage advocate attempting to argue with Governor Wilson in the midst of his address at the Brooklyn Academy of Music tonight, put the entire audience of 6000 persons in an uproar, defended herself physically against one man who tried to eject her, and was finally forced out of the hall and made a fire escape by two ushers and a policeman under the personal direction of Chief Magistrate Kempner. She was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct and released in the Adams-street police station. While the militant one was battling fiercely with the three men, who dragged her inch by inch from her balcony seat to the fire exit, the audience was on its feet and the tumult deafening.

Governor Wilson, who, with the patience of a diplomatic gentleman, had several times softened the anger of the crowd in the face of repeated interruptions by Miss Malone, expressed great regret that the incident should have occurred.

WILSON INTERRUPTED.

The first interruption came while Governor Wilson was speaking of the control of legislative forces by a few men at Washington.

"The Democratic party," he said, "is trying to break up this vicious monopoly."

At this instant Miss Malone stood up in the balcony and shouted to "Mr. Wilson, what about votes for women?"

The great audience turned as one man to learn whence came the interruption. Then followed a volley of hisses and hoots, with cries, "Put her out" and "Make her be still!" But Wilson raised his hand for silence and said quietly:

"My friends, we have no right to be rude to a woman."

But Mr. Wilson again cried the familiar order, "You said you were endeavoring to break up a monopoly. The women have a monopoly on suffrage."

PASSES UP QUESTION.

Again the jeers and hisses broke out with greater volume. Again Wilson calmed the audience and said:

"Woman suffrage is a question that is not dealt with by the national government at all. I am here only as the representative of a national party."

This was vigorously applauded.

"But I am speaking to you as an American citizen," persisted Miss Malone, her voice rising almost to a scream above the shouts from the audience demanding her ejection.

"I hope you will not consider it a courtesy if I decline to answer that question at this time," replied the governor, still unruffled and urging the spectators to be quiet.

But men were standing up in all parts of the auditorium and 30 or 40 had moved from balcony seats and were closely surrounding Miss Malone. One of them grabbed her arms, but she turned on him angrily and fought him off.

FACIES BIG CROWD.

After some semblance of order had been restored Governor Wilson made another attempt to pacify the crowd.

"Now, my friends, I am sure that the lady will not insist when I positively decline to answer that question now."

But Miss Malone was on her feet still.

"Why do you decline?" she demanded.

That was her last chance. An usher grabbed her but she threw him back and turned as if to speak again.

There were cries of "Go home and mind the babies!" "Make her sit down," "Arrest her!" A man sitting near got up and threatened to catch the usher. He had taken hold of her. That lent a new complexion to the hall.

But at this moment Chief Magistrate Kempner arrived, followed by two ushers and a policeman and escorted the obstreperous suffragist from the hall.

WOMAN USES FISTS.

The disturbance was so great that the Echo opposes the initiative measure which will appear as No. 6 on the ballot.

THAT "DISABLING ACT."

THAT "ENABLING ACT."

An exceedingly spirited editorial contest between certain San Francisco newspapers and their contemporaries in Oakland has marked the fight over the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment whereby San Francisco is to be enabled to annex its neighboring city. It is seldom that feelings run so high between the two cities, and it is hardly conceivable that even a slow baseball race between the two would produce more of most satisfactory results.

Mrs. Lucy Barker of Elmhurst is arranging a big anti-amendment mass meeting to be held there at Redmen's Hall the night of Tuesday, October 29. There will be two speakers, who are to be selected later.

TAYLOR WILL SPEAK.

The Adelphian Club, one of the most prominent of the women's organizations of Alameda, has invited former Senator E. K. Taylor to address the members on the amendment subject the afternoon of October 21. Taylor is strongly opposed to the measure and has been doing good work against it in the city across the estuary.

Following dinner to be given the Pilgrim Brotherhood at the Commercial church on the evening of October 29 there is to be a joint debate on the subject of the consolidation amendment. W. E. Gibson, president of the Alameda County League, has been invited to present the arguments of those opposed to the proposed change in the state constitution.

PRESS OF STATE IS UNIT IN OPPOSING GOBBLING ACT

Facing certain defeat, the proponents of the notorious constitutional amendment which will appear sixth on the ballot, are endeavoring to cloud the issue by a avalanche of misleading literature that is being sent to newspaper editors all over the state.

Practically all of this pro-consolidation literature is being issued from San Francisco and practically all is finding a safe reception in editorial wastebaskets. The San Francisco Call, for instance, has this to say: "The proposed amendment is a disabling act because of the fact that it prohibits the formation of city and county governments except for cities of a population of 350,000, and prohibits consolidation of cities under the same population limit. That is just what Oakland lacks at and finds most unfair. It has neighbors, some of which are willing to be annexed, and some of which may object to being joined to Oakland. But none of them would have the right to say anything about it if the amendment should carry."

TRUTH IS TOLD.

The Oakland people contend that there is a whole lot more of it. They say that the proposed amendment would give to San Francisco the right to take in other cities, and would deny that right to Oakland and other cities. In view of the enabling act, the proposed amendment is a "disabling act" because of the fact that it prohibits the formation of city and county governments except for cities of a population of 350,000, and prohibits consolidation of cities under the same population limit. That is just what Oakland lacks at and finds most unfair.

The Call continues:

ORANGEVALE IRRIGATED FARMS

8 years' time given you to pay.
NO PAYMENTS IF YOU ARE SICK.

Price $100 per acre, including perfect water right. Water is the cheapest in the State—costs only 50 cents per acre per year.

TERMS, 10 PER CENT. CASH, BALANCE
EAST MONTHLY PAYMENTS.

ORANGEVALE soil is unquestionably the best there is for all kinds of citrus fruit, peaches and general farming. Adjoining ORANGEVALE is an olive orchard which cleared $300 per acre last year above expenses. On a ranch near by a farmer cleared $1000 on less than 1 acre of cucumbers. You can do the same at ORANGEVALE.

ORANGEVALE is situated in the famous Palermo citrus fruit district, where the oranges and all other crops are considered to be the best in the country for raising citrus fruits.

As everybody knows, oranges are shipped from this section six to eight weeks earlier than those from the San Joaquin valley, bringing much higher prices in the early markets. Some orange groves in this vicinity clear over $700 per acre yearly.

10,000 acres are now being planted to oranges and the value of the crops and the owner of this tract $700 per acre to get water upon it. A complete irrigation system is already installed for ORANGE-VALE purchasers. Think what this means to you! $1000 per acre for the complete irrigation system, the cheapest water in the State, and where you can ship your products to market, six to eight weeks ahead of the Southern California growers and the price per bushel is the same fact that land in this portion of the State is so much cheaper than in Southern California. The reason is that up to the present time this portion of the State has not been bonded; but now it is, and makes it much more attractive to the realization of the fact that this land will produce better and earlier crops than Southern California, where this kind of land would cost you over $1000 per acre.

The advantages of this district for citrus fruit growing over that of Southern California is evidenced by the fact that 10,000 acres are now being planted to oranges in this vicinity by James Mills, son of Durus O. Mills, the great Sacramento banker.

The three prime factors upon which the growing of citrus fruit is based are climate, soil and water. ORANGEVALE possesses all three to an unexcelled degree.

For a home or an investment you cannot find the equal. The Panama Canal will be opened next October. The flood of immigration from Europe to California with the value of land to an unprecedented extent in the history of California. I feel confident that this land will bring $500 per acre inside of four years. Where can you invest your money to better advantage and where can you purchase land on such easy time payments?

ORANGEVALE has been on the market only a few weeks, and one-half of the entire tract is now sold.

For $100 per month will buy 10 acres of this land. Provide an income for the future.
My partial payment plan suggests an easy way. Back to the soil is an easy solution of the high cost of living. An investment in ORANGEVALE is as safe as a government bond, with the assurance of doubling your money in the near future. Buy now, and reap the benefit of the profits after the opening of the Panama Canal.

Mail your name and address on the coupon below and I will send you, absolutely free, illustrated descriptive literature of ORANGEVALE; or call at my office for further information.

MRS. AMY GOURAUD TO CHANGE NAME AGAIN

At Any Rate That Tempestuous Actor and Wooer, De Max, Coming Too.

GOSSIP LEARN THEY SAIL ON THE SAME STEAMER

Fiery Tragedian Replaces Corsican Prince, Argentine Diplomat and Singer.

(By PAUL PIERRE RIGNAUX.)

PARIS, October 19.—Mrs. Amy Crocker-Ash-Gillie-Gouraud is about to take unto herself yet another husband or so her intimates here; are firmly convinced. This time the happy man is Edmond de Max, the thin, nervous, pre-Raphaelite French actor who is full of temperament and vagaries.

When Mrs. Gouraud sailed on the Auguste Victoria she told her friends that urgent business affairs demanded her presence in America. But M. de Max sailed on the same steamer. They will marry soon after arrival in New York, it is believed.

Mr. Gouraud, her daughters, the Misses Yvonne and Dolores and their maids occupy staterooms 415, 42nd and 418. M. de Max is in stateroom 429, which is directly across the passage from those of the Gourauds, but separated from them by an iron partition which admirably represents the conventionalities.

De Max's wooing of the wealthy California widow has been subjected to the buffets of many storms of jealousy which would have wrecked a passion less sturdy. As in all else, De Max is tragic, tempestuous, impulsive; his swaying spirit, spell of狂热, his temper becomes uncontrollable.

The French government compelled him to vacate his residence, the Chapel of the famous Hotel de Biron, which he had furnished in the height of his artistic taste. On receiving the government's order, De Max flew into a tremendous passion and destroyed everything breakable in his home.

The final quarrel between Mrs. Gouraud and De Max had come last year, it was thought. Then De Max suspected she was contemplating marriage to Prince Colonna Lanza, a Corsican, who incidentally could produce her in the social set of which the Duchess de Rohan is the leader. Seemingly in an ungovernable rage, De Max rushed in and denounced Mrs. Gouraud as a coquette.

He was acting, he never acted better; at any rate he awoke if he did not alarm her. She threw over the Prince and subjected herself to the boredom of watching and waiting for De Max's return. But she relieved her ennui by accepting the attentions of Eduardo Manzella, an Argentine diplomat, nephew of the famous Argentine dictator, President Rojas. Also Mrs. Gouraud as a coquette, Gena Aguirre, a young Russian singer whose attractions were devoted.

But Mrs. Gouraud paid only laughing attention to their protestations; she continued to fondle her pet snake, Kaar.

Manzella has returned to his wife and children in Rome. Aguirre's last hope is a promise that he may be permitted to visit Mrs. Gouraud in New York in a month or two.

Meantime, De Max, a very pirate in love, has sailed away with the prize, Kaar.

CAT ACTS AS FIRE-ALARM OF FAMILY

ST. JOHNS, Ore., Oct. 18.—A house cat, the pet of the daughter of O. F. Bedes of 218 Fox street, this city, saved the lives of four members of the family at midnight, when by its frantic endeavors it awakened the daughter of the house by pulling her hair, when the house was found to be on fire. The entire rear section of the structure was wrapped in flames when Miss Bedes, a little girl, 10, was overcome by smoke. She quickly awakened her parents in an adjoining room, and the father rushed into the rear room to call the son, a lad of 14, who was found overcome by the smoke in an unconscious condition. The lad was carried outside, and it required an hour's effort to bring him to consciousness.

The fire department was called, but before the men arrived the Bedes home, and the other partially burned before the efforts of the firemen to extinguish the flames. The fire had been destroyed, entailing a loss of about $1,800 with insurance of only $500.

The fire spread to the home of Ralf Schepers, alongside the Bedes house, and this was partially burned before the efforts of the firemen to extinguish the flames. The firemen had been destroyed, entailing a loss of about $1,800 with insurance of only $500.

THE SMARTEST FASHIONS & WELL-DRESSED PEOPLE

THE COLLEGE DANCE

M DEAR MADAM:

You have given me quite a big contract—"Tell me how to make an evening gown for myself, and also please design one for Helen."

I'm not in the designing business, dear one, but I can give you a few ideas by describing to you two or three charming little frocks I saw last night at the college dance.

It's well the memory is fresh in my mind. I can answer your letter at once.

Elsie Johnson was the "belle of the ball." She was delighted in a pannier gown of rose-colored charmeuse draped with flowered chiffon.

The bodice was made in a surplice fashion of plain pink chiffon, bordered with satin roses applied to its outer edge. This crossed over an underbodice of lace and folded into a girdle of black velvet ribbon, which fell in long loops and ends on the left side near the back.

The pannier draped over a short tunic of charmeuse, cut off square in the front. A new idea, my dear, in skirt trimming, and one that is exceedingly effective. It was such a dainty, pretty gown. Just the thing for a debutante.

Julia Howe was gowned in pale-lavender tissue, showing shadow stripes of pink. That combination of color, you know, is decidedly chic. It was made with a short bodice, opening in a V back and front over a lace vest. The sleeves and bodice were cut in one, joining into a high circular girdle of beautiful Egyptian embroidery showing the shades of the gown, and much gold thread.

Directly in front was a flat bow of cerise satin. This was seen again on the skirt, where it took the form of a rosette that caught a soft pannier drapery of the tissue over an underskirt of plain lavender satin.

I can picture how sweet you would look in a gown like this, my dear.

One of the most girlish gowns was of soft white chiffon trimmed with garlands of green satin leaves applied to the bodice and skirt in border fashion.

These outlined the round neck of the bodice, the high waist line in the form of a girdle and the edge of a draped tunic, where it was caught up in a flat satin bow. The sleeves, too, were bordered with satin bows.

In her hair was a bandana of green-and-gold ribbon, caught on each side with a gold tissue rose.

After all, there is no prettier dance frock for a woman of my years than this. It was a very simple, very trim, and up-to-date type of attire. The lace was draped in an indescribable manner. Frenchy and very graceful, forming a pannier in the back and at the sides.

The bodice was cut in a deep V in front and back and joined in just a little at the sides. The white marine silk halter-like belt was a short train. The lace was handsome enough to permit of an entire absence of trimming; but she wore two very handsome diamond ornaments caught in the soft folds of the lace.

There, ma cherie, are several models from which to make a selection.

Good luck to you and love to all the dear ones at home.

Affectionately,

ELEANOR.

NEWS FROM the OLD WORLD

OAKLAND TRIBUNE

OCTOBER 20, 1912.

CONSERVATION CAUSE OF ROW

Sharp Controversy is Aroused Over Preservation of the Natural Resources.

Conservatives Given a Rude Awakening by the Socialists.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—A sharp controversy over principles of conservation of natural resources is in progress here in connection with a bill revising and modernizing the laws of water rights in Prussia. It is one of the most important measures which will occupy the attention of the Prussian legislature at its coming session. The bill declares the most important streams in the kingdom to be public property and provides an unlimited avenue from the rivers, authorizing all expenses of keeping them in order, of from $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 annually.

The committee which has been considering the bill is composed almost exclusively of representatives of the big landholders and has given the measure a form which has called forth sharp protests by implying a fixed charge for all water taken from the streams by factories and cities, while the farmers are to be allowed to take free of cost all that they need for irrigation or other purposes.

Commercial bodies are highly dissatisfied with the bill, but the present form, a great majority of practical agriculturists and delegates from all parts of the kingdom has just been held in Berlin.

FAIL TO SATISFY.

The government's measures for alleviating the distress caused by the enormous price of meat, have failed up to the date of the publication of the bill for some reduction in the price of living. Municipalities and commercial bodies were prompt to declare them inadequate to meet the situation prior to the Euro-Asian convention which imports are now allowed under the concessions being themselves so high that only a slight reduction in prices in Germany can be expected under the most favorable circumstances.

Pressure from the Agrarian parties, on which the government depends for existence, and from the military elements who insist that Germany at whatever cost must be placed in a position to support its own strength at home in case of war, was too strong for adoption of the measures generally regarded as the only effective one, namely, to render possible the import of frozen and chilled beef from non-European countries.

PREDICT EXTERMINATION.

The early extermination of whales and seals was predicted at a congress of German doctors and scientists recently held in Munich. Professor Sarsen of Basel predicted that in 1913 a single seal-fishing company would bring in from the Greenland Islands 4500 tons of oil made from the sea elephant, while in the same year four ships killed 16,000 seals, these animals.

The seal-fishers of Greenland killed 24,000 seals in 1912, 118,947 were killed in the North Polar region this year.

This heavy reduction of the seal life of the Arctic and Antarctic oceans has been brought about by the introduction of the system proposed by Otto Sverdrup, the Norwegian. Four ships equipped with whale and seal fishing was undertaken on a new and more profitable system than that hitherto in vogue.

Sverdrup found that whale fishing could be more thoroughly conducted by sending ships with the actual fishing vessels a larger steamer fitted up as an all recovery station, thus making it unnecessary for them to wait at a station on some remote island after catching the whales. This improved system has proved so successful that some companies have been organised to operate on Sverdrup's plan. The vessels are fitted with wireless telegraph, and equipped with dynamite instead of cannon. Seals are also hunted in the same manner.

According to Professor Sarsen, this method of hunting is rapidly exterminating the seals, and was the chief reason why the blue whale has probably already been exterminated, while the bowhead whale and the bowhead whale are also especially sought after by fishermen.

Lord Farquhar, who is pledged to the powers to try to reach an international agreement to establish certain closed zones or rhombes which might serve as breeding places for whales and seals.

RUDE AWAKENING.

The result of the Socialist convention at Chemnitz, a rude awakening to German Conservatism, who had maintained in spite of its great numbers, a position in the German nation, was not dangerous in spite of its great numbers.

It was and would remain a minority in the German nation, but the chief reason why the Socialists were not successful, was that the blue whale has probably already been exterminated, while the bowhead whale and the bowhead whale are also especially sought after by fishermen.

PANTAGES. ORPHEUM

Blanche Barrymore will make her local vaudeville debut at the Orpheum today at the matinee and the tone of thousands of local admirers of the young star look upon this occasion as the event of the year. Miss Barrymore's acquisition for vaudeville is a triumph that the Orpheum management is naturally proud of. She is offered James M. Barrie's one-act play, "The Twelve Pound Look," by England's famous playwright. Critics have not only been saying that Miss Barrymore has done her best work in this little play, but they have decided that Mr. Barrie has won his highest mark with this tabloid drama.

There is not a playgoer who is not entirely familiar with Miss Barrymore's career. From the time she first became a star in Clyde Fitch's "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marine" until her last tour in Arthur W. Pinero's powerful play, "Old Chancery," she has held a foremost position in the stellar company. Her principal successes besides these two plays were "Lady Fredwick," "Sunday," "Alice Sit by the Fire" and "A Slice of Life," plays calling for a wide range of versatility and running from drawing-room comedy to the greatest emotional role.

ONE OF GREATEST.

Miss Barrymore has been one of Chas. Frohman's greatest stars for the last ten years and it is by Mr. Frohman's express arrangement that she is to make her local debut at the Orpheum.

Their number has been the hit of the bill in San Francisco and has created enthusiasm all along the circuit. Wilkie Masten and Ruth Brown are the medal wearers in the dancing numbers and the couple are out with a challenge to step it with any team in or out of the vaudeville game.

"Get a License" is a mirthful skit giving Gladys Van and Arthur Pearce a chance to display their wifery at their best. Miss Van especially is ridiculous in her efforts to keep her delicate "jig" number a bit of characterization rarely seen on the stage.

Earl Dewey and his Four Dancing Dolls will have a bright spot on the new bill and Dewey who resorts to originality for his comedy is full of quaint mannerisms. The "Dolls" keep things moving in lively fashion while Dewey is off the stage changing his costumes.

ETHEL BARRYMORE PITIES THE POOR PEANUT REFORMER

"He Doesn't Know There Are Roses in Garden," Sighs Stage Artist

By LEO LEVY.

"I feel so sorry for him," pitied Ethel Barrymore. "We were holding a post mortem over that ignoblest Roman of 'em all—the peanut reformer. He is the busy little man who fishes theatrical castoffs out of the garbage can and holds them under good people's noses as odiferous proof that the stage needs chloride of lime."

"I feel so sorry for him!" Miss Barrymore almost sighed it. "I don't believe he even knows there are roses in the garden. At any rate, he has never explored the source of the perfume that has been the world's atmosphere since Shakespeare."

We mentioned the boast of some censors of the stage, that theaterdom is a stranger land to them than the country of the blonde Eskimo. A look of longing filled her eyes—a longing to drop the peanut reformer into his own garbage can.

But she contented herself with feeling mournful on his account and let it go at that. "T was a deep, deep sorrow."

It was in Miss Barrymore's dressing-room, far above the stage of the San Francisco Orpheum, that we drank the blood of the censor. The star had just taken her last curtain call for her work in "The Twelve Pound Look." The gown and smile of the play still draped her, and personality—famed and valuable—hung on her like an overdress.

Personality, the 'garden variety' for which some managers pay a high price, is a Jekyll-Hyde affair that radiates behind the footlights and sinks in the dressing-room. Miss Barrymore possesses a splendid individuality that is part and parcel of her. It accompanies her to the stage door, enters, helps her on with "war-paint" and togs, assists her downstairs, makes a simultaneous entrance, trots at her side during the production and sticks like glue when she exits.

She is herself "on" and "off" and that's all there's to it.

What a lovely sensation to discover a human being in the "profession!" Rare, like the little drops of water in a mirage!

It is rather hazy now how it was that stage reform elbowed its way into the conversation. Perhaps it was dragged in by the hair. Come to think of it, "was.

Leigh Bruckhart, George Eby's Lieutenant, was along and started to tell Miss Barrymore that she was stouter.

That was a brave thing to do. Bruckhart would be the first man over the great wall of China with the American flag, during an engagement that was fraught with danger and bullets. That, or he hasn't studied his book of epigrams wherein is to preached, the characters he has drawn, the human nature he has revealed! Why, it is all wonderful!"

A simple line brings down the curtain on the play, one of not more than seven words. Miss Barrymore quoted it.

"There are novelists who could not pack the tremendous meaning of that line into three volumes," she said. "I wish Barrie would do something more—a long play, for instance."

Her face lit up with the mental and demands that its favorite stamp: "No, there's a difference between the stage, rend the air and butcher polite attention and the other thing, art to make a Roman holiday."

We of the stage can tell it in a second.

Curtain calls are in direct ratio to sound. I know now what I didn't know.

The amount of noise made by play and song I started on this tour: Two-player.

"The Twelve Pound Look" is a two-dollar culture and appreciation do not as always travel hand in hand. A vanderbilt affair and Barrie has asked its portrayers to be natural and no more, as the other gathering. At least, it things showy and vents his spite when Look's those who formerly saw it much about the play, but I hope I'll find it what I want."

An elaboration of "The Twelve Pound Look" was suggested, but the actress shook her head.

"Everything is told in the space of a few minutes and couldn't be done as well in an additional two acts."

And I just then a breath of applause floated up from the auditorium. Miss Barrymore laughed.

"That's Jack Wilson's act," she explained. "He burlesques the entire play that I wasn't alone. He bowed politely.

"Excuse me," he begged: "I guess I'm in the wrong place." Then he departed.

"We called the house detective and told him. That sleuth investigated, searched and then concluded that the intruder was no more than a bumptious gentleman in search of his own quarters.

"Between the time that the detective was warned and that second when he arrived at his conclusion, the strange gentleman had entered three other suites and had departed with several thousand dollars in jewels and money."

"I don't want any more experiences like that," she shuddered. "They are all right on the stage, but let's keep them there."

We rose to depart.

"How are the babies?"

She smiled as you never saw her smile in the old days and there came into her eyes that look that you don't get on the stage.

"They're fine! How I wish I had them here now!"

And, believe us, she wasn't acting then.

We're not going to tell you that her gown was blue and graceful; she wears it on the stage, and it is as much a part of Kate as Miss Barrymore's smile. Nor will we even mention that the dressing-room was pretty well filled with flowers, tributes of friends, acquaintances and neither. We will also pass by the Barrymore charm, for its praise has been sung by countless reviewers and its warmth has radiated from stages all over the country; you've met it and grown friendly with it.

We'll not say a word about any of 'em though they were all present at the quiz.

So was stage censorship.

"When you're looking for the bad, why pass the Barries unnoticed?" asked the star.

And: "You will notice there's a lot of scenery outside the window of a stuffy passenger car."

Also: "I don't believe the reformer even knows there are roses in the garden."

Yes, indeed, the peanut reformer was much in the dressing-room conversation.

"I feel so sorry for him!" pitied Miss Barrymore.

prospect of it. Ethel Barrymore plus three acts by Barrie would equal achievement, art, new figures in attendance and mountain-like box-office receipts.

The eternal query was bound to crop out, and did.

"Do vaudeville audiences 'get' the Barrie play?"

The answer came quick.

"Better and quicker than those which frequent your so-called 'two-dollar' houses. When I took 'The Twelve Pound Look' over the country, as a curtain raiser, it was received in silence. There was seldom more than scattered hand-clapping when the curtain fell. East or West, it made no difference. Cities that were nicknamed 'Culture' seemed to get Barrie's little play not at all. I don't know why."

he doesn't get it. Resentment from an orchestra chair finds expression in silence.

That's why.

Miss Barrymore was repeating:

"It is wonderful how the vaudeville audience appreciates the Barrie play and understands it. Did you watch them out there, lids afternoon? They hung on every line, breathless. The eloquent silence during important scenes gripped us on the stage. I could actually feel it."

"Perhaps it is your personal popularity that holds them quiet and draws applause at the end."

didn't even pretend to."

We remarked that she was the first of those stars who have entered the two-a-days who have said aught but otherwise.

"I can't help that," was the reply.

"I know what I'm talking about."

WHAT IS TO COME NEXT.

We passed on to a discussion of "what next."

"I have a few weeks of vaudeville left," said Miss Barrymore, "then I am to do a new play by Hadden Chambers—if I like it. Mr. Chambers is to meet me, perhaps in Chicago, with his manuscript. I don't know show. His take-off of 'The Twelve Pound Look' is one of the funniest things I have ever seen."

Whereupon the star enjoyed a mind picture of it for a moment while we thought of the published reports that Miss Barrymore was at odds with Frohman because that gentleman had permitted some one or other to burlesque the Barrie play.

We'll not say a word about any of 'em though they were all present at the quiz.

So was stage censorship.

"When you're looking for the bad, why pass the Barries unnoticed?" asked the star.

And: "You will notice there's a lot of scenery outside the window of a stuffy passenger car."

Also: "I don't believe the reformer even knows there are roses in the garden."

Yes, indeed, the peanut reformer was much in the dressing-room conversation.

"I feel so sorry for him!" pitied Miss Barrymore.

evening, but so popular has the exhibition proved that Manager York persuaded Dr. Carver to cancel other bookings in order to remain at Idora another day and not disappoint the Sunday throngs. The Idora carnival proved a grand success and the Carver exhibition did much toward bringing this about.

Idora has never offered an attraction that could approach the diving horses in sensationalism. To see these animals climb to the top of a 45 foot tower and then plunge to the tank of water beneath, with a daring girl rider on their back, is a sight that has never before been witnessed on the coast. Besides this the feats of high diving by the boys and girls and the interesting swimming exhibition is one well worth seeing.

Idora will remain open until the first of November and all of the concessions will be in full blast until that time.

near here with the Pacific Coast Grand Opera Company. Miss Targioni is considered a great actress as well as an excellent singer.

Amina Matini, another lyric soprano, was recommended to Mr. Patrizi by Massagatti himself, who considers her one of the best lyric soprano now on the stage. She will sing the leading roles in "La Boheme," "Tosca," "Amico Fritz," "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Fedora," "Traviata" and "Cio-Cio."

Malvina Pereira is a light coloratura soprano, said to possess one of the sweetest and most mellow voices. Hers is called a golden voice, and Miss Pereira has exceptional ability in vocalization and trills. She has been singing throughout Europe and South America during the past few years with great success. She will appear in "Lucia," "Rigoletto" and "Traviata."

Rita D'Orsi is a lyric soprano who, besides possessing a splendid voice, is also gifted with a charming personality. She will sing the parts of Musette in "La Boheme," Nedda in "Cavalleria Rusticana," the title rôle in "Amico Fritz" and "Chopin." Although very young, she has sung successfully in the leading theaters of Italy, Germany, Austria and Hungary.

Ida Gordini, mezzo-soprano, possesses a remarkably powerful voice and dramatic ability, and will appear in the parts of Ortredore in "Lohengrin" and Azucena in "Trovatore" and the mezzo-soprano parts of other operas. She has sung with great success in South America, Russia, Germany and Italy.

Among the tenors is Giuseppe Glorioso, who has been singing for the past two years in La Scala of Milan and who was one of the tenors selected by Mario Ussini to sing in the latest opera, "Isabella." This opera was first given at the Teatro Armanini in a tenor of La Scala and made a great hit there last winter in "Don Pasquale" and "Humperdinck's King's Children." Giuseppe Argostini is the old San Francisco favorite who first rendered here the part of Rodolfo in "La Boheme."

"The Third Degree" is one of the "big" dramas of the past three seasons. It was written by Cooper, a well-known author of "The Idol," "The Mouse," "The Music Master," etc.

Landers Stevens has a great acting role in Richard Brewster, the lawyer, and George Cooper, who is the excellent "Anne," while the entire cast will be one of uniform strength.

THEATER COIFFURES

By Lillian Russell

BEAUTIFUL HAIR MUST BE CULTIVATED THIS SEASON. 'WOMAN'S HALO' WAS NEVER WORN SO PLAIN. THE PRESENT FASHIONS OF HAIR DRESSING ARE SIMPLE TO A DEGREE OF PLAINNESS. THE HAIR MUST BE ABSOLUTELY DEVOID OF RATS, ROLLS, BRAIDS AND PUFFS.

SAYS

Lillian Russell

[Copyright: 1912. By Lillian Russell.]

It is a remarkable fact that most women who attend the theaters apparently give little or no thought to their hairdressing, for nine out of every ten women one sees look as though the state of their heads was a matter of the utmost indifference to them.

It is with the greatest joy and admiration that one picks out a beautiful head among the many ugly ones—surely women do not see themselves as others see them.

The first rule of beauty is cleanliness. Nothing can be beautiful, or even presentable, unless it is clean.

The present fashions of hairdressing are simple to a degree of plainness. One's own hair, devoid of rats and rolls, braids and puffs, must be at its best.

If you do not like your own hair, consider the feelings of those who sit near you in an audience.

It is a woman's duty to look her best. That does not mean that she may put rhinestone combs and ribbons to hide a soiled head.

A clean, well combed head of hair is far more of an ornament to a woman than all of the jewels made up for adornments.

A bow of ribbon, a flower, or a comb in just the right place is artistic. But when things are used to hide untidiness they are absolutely out of place and offensive.

* *

Study Contour of the Head.

A woman should study the shape of her head and wear her hair in a fashion that will not destroy its outline. Nothing can disfigure a beautiful outline more than puffs pinned on indiscriminately. And nothing is more ridiculous than to see a large woman with a tiny bunch of sausages shaped curly pinned carelessly behind her left ear. Sometimes such effects are worn to hide some defect in the shape of scars; even then a rosette of jewels would be more artistic.

I have seen heads that looked as though they only needed a thorough brushing to make them shine and look beautiful, and others that needed a little brilliantine to keep down the broken ends.

Fluffy hair is only pretty when it is blonde or of the reddish tint.

It is a woman's duty to look her best. That does not mean she may put large decorations on her head. A bow of ribbon in just the right place is artistic, but an exaggerated decoration is pitiful. *

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES

SUE: If you have plump shoulders look well to your diet. Eat less pastry and sweets and drink more water. A daily bath and an hour's exercise in the open air will greatly help in purifying the blood. Salt baths are also good. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope I shall send you a healing salve for pimples.

E. K.: There is no way that the knuckles can be made smaller. The only way to remedy this is to make the hands more plump. Massage the hands with a good skin food or warm coco butter daily. Olive oil is also good. Also massage the neck with the skin food. I shall send you the formula for skin food if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

MAZIE: Before going out into the sun cover the face with a good cold cream and then dust a good powder on it. This will prevent the face from freckling. Never go without a hat or a parasol unless you want to get tanned or freckled. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope I shall send you formula for a bleach for freckles.

NAN T.: I shall be glad to send you formula for removing superfluous hair, also a bleach for the skin, if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

READER: The tonic for hair turning gray prematurely does not dye the hair. It helps to keep the hair from losing its color from other causes than age. I thank you for so nice a letter. To make a pretty woman prettier and to help her to retain her youth is something to be thankful for.

IN DOUBT: I cannot give you the desired information through my column on account of lack of space, but if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope I shall be glad to send you the formulas you asked for.

SOCIETY

WHAT SUZETTE HAS TO SAY OF SOCIETY AND ITS PEOPLE

AS OTHERS SEE US! It is a theme on which one might write extensively, especially when it concerns our own local smart set. For even the October days have not brought our smart sets back to town. Newport has again forged to the front as the great center of American social development. And so we read of New port:

"Newport, in short, is the summer quarters of American society and its imprimatur is the transatlantic equivalent of a presentation at court. Debutantes make there their first solemn bow and are lunched and dined and feted and fussed over with an exuberance reserved for the American girl of sweet seventeen. Momentous social decrees are issued—this year, for instance, has been made immortal already by Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish's decision to drop the cotton. It is the general belief," writes the awestruck Special correspondent, "that there will be few if any cotillions in New York next winter."

"What it comes to is that the wealthiest, the most lavish, the most pleasure-loving, the most bejeweled, and the best-dressed society in the world deliberately sets itself at Newport to indulge in every recreation money can furnish and ingenuity devise. Luncheons, balls, garden parties, dinner parties, private theatricals, tableaux, bridge parties, musicales, whirl ceaselessly after one another, and all of them on the Fifth avenue scale of bigness, opulence, and finish. But the summer colonists lead an even more strenuous life out of doors. They swim and yacht, and ride and fish, and play polo, tennis, and golf, there is an immensity of motoring and of four-in-hand and tandem-driving and fencing and roller skating are on the list of obligatory accomplishments. Even baseball receives a passing recognition, and in every one of these sports the women take part as energetically as the men."

THAT SUPERIOR CHARM OF LENOX.

"But Newport stands in a category of its own. There are many other places, such as Lenox, among the delightful Berkshire hills in Massachusetts which are more select and aristocratic, where the multi-millionaire who wishes to make a splash is eyed askance, where it is thought distinctly bad form to spend more than $500,000 on your 'cottage' and estate, but where nevertheless the same, or very much the same, round of gaiety and amusement is pursued, though less feverishly than in Newport and with a greater restraint. We have very few such places in England—places, that is to say, where city men have built country homes for themselves, occupy them summer after summer, and duplicate in them, of course, with many variations and embellishments, the sort of life they are used to in New York. An Englishman and Englishwoman on their holidays want above all things rest and who have never rented a grouse a change not only of environment but of life and interests. Americans are much more content to reproduce urban social conditions amid rural surroundings, to entertain at their summer homes as freely as in their town houses, and to look upon a holiday rather as a time of additional festivity than as a period of relaxation."

HAVING GOOD TIME IN YOUR OWN LAND.

And another glimpse of Newport is interesting:

"There are some Americans—not many, of course, but some, perhaps 90,000,000 in all—who do not scour Europe annually in their motor cars moor or a salmon stream in Scotland, and who spend their summer holidays in their own land and still manage to have a pretty good time in spite of the heat and the mosquitoes.

"Of all their playgrounds the most famous and fashionable is Newport on Rhode Island, once a humble fishing village and now crowded with the wide verandahed 'cottages'—they are often really mansions, some of them almost palaces—of the Four Hundred, and reproducing summer after summer under the eyes and cameras of a corps of special correspondents most of the diversions of the New York winter season with a hundred entertainments and recreations that are all its own."

ANDREW CARNEGIE ON WAY TO U. S.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie brought their annual visit to Skibz to a close this week and sailed for New York on the Baltic on Thursday. Contrary to their usual custom, the Carnegies did not spend any time in London on their return journey, sailing from Liverpool. With them went their daughter and Mr. and Mrs. George Leander, who likewise had been spending some time in the north.

On account of mourning in the family of ex-Judge Pryor, only the immediate family will attend the reception and bridal breakfast at the Pryor home following the ceremony at the church. A high dignitary of the Catholic church will officiate.

WHAT LONDON SENDS TO US IN STYLES.

From London comes the latest cry representing what Dame Fashion presents to us in these autumn days:

London dressmakers are now displaying the new fall and winter fashions. The pannier skirt is apparently out of favor, its place being taken for afternoon wear by the draped skirt, only distantly related to it.

shape is the skirt of the season. Cut fairly full at the hips, it tapers down to a narrow width at the ankles, making the task of walking easier and gracefully more difficult than ever.

The Park fashions, exhibited here, are carried out in the brightest of bright colors, gorgeous purples, pinks, and yellows, vivid greens, flaming reds, and pure blues being used, with a touch of black to tone them down.

One of the new costumes, save for the skirt, will make the wearer an eighteenth century belle. It is made

WONDERFUL GOWNS SEEN AT WEDDING.

There is no doubt but that the gowns of today are the most artistic that have been seen in many seasons. At the Donovan-Coogan wedding one saw many exquisitely beautiful costumes, among them that of the bride's mother, Mrs. Coogan. The gown was of charmeuse, in lovely tones of blue, and one of the most beautiful gowns at the wedding was Mrs. Prentiss Selby, who wore an exquisite New York gown of white satin with an overdress of black chiffon. At Mrs. Requa's anti-annexation meeting one saw lovely gowns.

Mrs. Oscar Long was a very fine study in a gown of pale pink, planned in French effects.

Mrs. Mark Requa wore one of the most exquisite gowns seen here this summer, of white charmeuse, in Oriental trimmings in blues and greens.

Mrs. Harry East Miller was very stunning in a black tailored gown, with lovely furs. An American Beauty rose in her hat and one on her muff added a bright touch of color to a most effective costume.

Mrs. Wickham Havens is wearing white a great deal this season, and it is most becoming to her. Mrs. Joseph Knowland also wears white a great deal and she is usually exquisitely gowned.

Mrs. John F. Conners was also in white at Mrs. Requa's afternoon, and among other lovely gowns were those worn by Mrs. William Henshaw, Mrs. Minor Goodall, Mrs. Harry Knowles, Mrs. Charles E. Parcell, Miss Lucy Hertel, Mrs. Granville Abbott, Mrs. J. Loran Pease, Mrs. Charles Lovell, Mrs. C. S. Chamberlain, Mrs. Charles H. King.

RUSHES INTO CHURCH THREATENING TO KILL.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—Displaying a loaded revolver and threatening to kill a score of worshippers, kneeling near the altar rail, a man who gave the name of Peter Hartman, rushed at the confessional in the Immaculate Conception church of the Holy Saviour, Nineteenth and Decatur streets. Before he could carry out his threats, he was overpowered by Patrick O'Hagan, taken to the police by Deputy Sheriff police station, he was silently refused to make any explanation of his action and was locked up pending an investigation as to his sanity.

A meeting of men had been called in the church to hear an address by the Rev. Father Dorman, and a score or more had already entered the church and were kneeling in prayer when Hartman appeared.

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Mrs. J. S.: Wrinkles and other marks of approaching old age which now worry you are very common. However, you will not have to worry if you will follow this simple treatment: Apply to your face two drops of glycerine, then mix it with one-half teaspoonful of glycerine and one ounce of almond oil. Mix well and pour into one-half pint cold water. Stir and let stand several hours before using. Massage frequently with this cream. It will remove dirt and oil from all the pores and when you will not have a rough, wrinkled face, but a fresh, smooth, clean-looking skin of velvet texture. I also find this preparation excellent for removing sunburn, blisters, freckles, and large pores in the skin.

JULY: Yes, any one afflicted with sunburn, whether married or single, is sure to be a great nuisance. Get a small jar of your favorite salve and rub it on the sunburned part of your skin. This lotion will remove the sunburned skin and make the skin soft and smooth, and will remove the "reddy" look which is so annoying to you. You will find this lotion much better to use than face powder as it does not run off or rub off. Face powder does not give the skin a fresh, smooth, clean-looking skin. I find this sunburn lotion excellent for removing and preventing freckles, chapping and roughness of the skin.

Mrs. R. P.: If your hair is getting thin, then you have to wear hair pieces. You should begin at once a treatment to rid your scalp of dandruff which is the direct cause of all scalp and hair-troubles. If you will mix together an ounce of quinine, one-half pint of ale, one-half pint of oil of cloves, one-half pint of cold water you will have a dependable remedy for your hair-troubles. Rub this gently into the roots of the hair twice a week, and it will destroy the dandruff, stop your falling hair in its tracks, and give new growth of hair. This quinine-tonic applied regularly will make your hair soft, lustrous and keep it from falling at the ends.

Madd. The quickest and easiest way to remove hair or fuzz from the skin is with a salve made with water and beeswax.

Gossip About Makers of Books and Their Work

A CLEVER writer of today gives us the tendencies apparent in autumn books as follows:

With some very slight changes, the material of which books are made this fall is the same as last spring—the “problems of the day.” The packages themselves are the same, but the wrappings are different.

Society is, with one notable exception, most sent home to this fall daintily dressed in the most houses of popular fiction. The stories of the present season are stories of “fiction with a purpose,” the volumes of “action with a purpose,” have markedly decreased. There is a greater and greater demand for serious books as such, presenting social questions with no attempt at disguise.

But the most of the forms in which the day's problems are brought to our consideration, none is so popular as plays. Here is the fall's real “fashion”; here is the “season's vehicle.” Plays. All sorts of plays; ancient plays and modern plays and prophetic plays; most of them serious and “sociological” plays. But plays.

And to these two propositions there is, of course, a corollary. The corollary is the decline of fiction. There are fewer novels on the market now than for many a long year.

It is worthy of note, too, that the element of humor, well nigh completely banished in our strenuous social interest of six months ago, is creeping back into the day's literature. If fiction is less popular than it used to be, memoirs, biography, history and travel hold their own. And the “reading public,” in the midst of its drama and democracy, is raising a more and more insistent demand for poetry.

KIND TO READ.

Another well known critic tells us the kind of literature women read:

“As a matter of fact,” said Douglas Doty of the Century Company, “the suffrage movement is largely responsible for the interest in public problems. Whatever the suffrage campaign may do for the future, it has already done much. Women are reading serious books; women are keenly interested in all public problems, all social conditions. Women, in short, of today are all gay. Mrs. Chesterton, Mrs. Shorthouse, Mrs. Wells are engaged now in writing books that are fighting battles. They are concerned not with literature but with life. They do not use words like artists, but like warlords, loving them not for their perfume, but because they hit hard. Each has an enemy, and it is the same enemy. It is things as they are. Mrs. Chesterton takes the world in his vast embrace and tries to heave it back into the Middle Ages. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Wells—hitting jolly gibus at each other, by the way—hit at our poor orb and seek to make it into something unborn. They are all perishing and they are all happy. Perhaps Mr. Chesterton, perhaps, and certainly his laugh submerges those of his rivals beneath his buoyant waves.

But Mr. Chesterton's joy is in repose. Give him an easy chair and a foeman worthy of his steel, and he will shake the rafters from the dust of evening to the dawn of day. It is otherwise with Mr. Wells. His joy is not in physical repose, but in motion. He is like a man who runs to keep pace with his thought. The energy of the mind is reflected in the activity of his body. It is as though he charged with vitality that is inexhaustible and gives him no rest. It suggests something of that fever of living which characterized Dickens, with whom he has many traits in common, apart from his origin.

MARY AUSTIN'S LATEST.

A Californian, whose literary fame grows with each one of her books, is Mary Austin. Her latest book, “Woman of Genius” (Doubleday, Page & Co.) is challenging the attention of the entire literary world.

Mrs. Austin states her theme picturesquely, but not quite adequately, when she says, on one of the first pages of the book: “This is the time of the struggle between the genius for tragic acting and the mother of a county clerk, with the social ideal of Taylorville, Indiana, for the villain.” For the tale goes far more deeply and more keenly into the realities of the life of today than that sentence gives the reader a right to guess. The novel is autobiographical in form, and tells the story of a famous actress, from the days of her childhood through all the project and emotional struggles which filled her life as she tried to fulfill at the same time the “social ideal of Taylorville, and the urge of the wings of genius. But at bottom it is a searching and brilliant analysis, dramatically sensitized, of that human struggle which the feminist movement has made possible in the heart of many a woman of this present time. The contest between the ideals of the old and the new generations, between fathers and sons, is age-long. Every oncoming generation fights it over again in some fresh form. But the conflict between racial ideals and racial instincts on one side, and on the other the insistent demands of the budding rights of personality for expression in its own way, is the contribution, entirely new to the struggle of the feminist movement to the possible tragedia life.

Mrs. Austin's Olivia gets on very well, triumphantly, in fact, though at the cost of some scenes, when she does battle only with the villain, “the social ideals of Taylorville.” But when the Spirit of Art, the Genius of which she is the vessel, must cross swords with racial instincts in the person of the man she loves, demanding that she keep his house and bear his name, she is at a loss.

CHARACTER STUDY.

“David Dunn,” by Bella Maniates is published by the Rand, McNally Company of Chicago.

The character so poised and rounded out that in its time of power it need not cast off the old friendships and the old loves in favor of the new, is the type set forth in “David Dunn.” Hampered in youth by a parentage from which no uplift save that of loyal affection can be drawn, son of the plow and adopted child of the big-hearted farmer in the locality, this half-wake student of men and affairs forces his way to the top in the political arena.

The round-headed, freckle-faced, gaunt-eyed son of a convict is introduced to the reader as he is indicating to Miss Muriel his capacity for ice cream by presenting a soup plate instead of the conventional saucer, and from that day forth his fortunes and her are intertwined. He early repays her kindness by materially aiding in bringing to a head her romance with one who had been her mentor for her. The reader is led to the star-faced but tender-hearted judge whose word is law throughout the surrounding country.

After five years, uneventful years of work and study, David exchanges farm for college, although by an eleventh hour transfer of a large portion of his savings to a needy channel, payment for the course is rendered difficult.

Following graduation comes the study of law, and later achievements at the bar merit the positions of trust and influence which rapidly succeed one another. Civil honors are his in abundance, and finally he is vouchsafed the highest mark of a great state's approval—the governorship.

The character, tendered of love and to the charm of the book—a quaint old maid and fragile but lovely and contrasted—brought about changing two apparently stern, relentless bachelors into gallant benefactors.

Witty, courageous, resourceful David is a veritable heart-thumper, and it is a specially good book for boys.

WILL IRWIN BUSY.

That favorite writer, Will Irwin, who hails from California, has a new book out entitled “The Red Button” (Bobbs, Merrill Company). His publishers write of it:

Captain Hanska had no doubt of that. Constantly he clung to the fence and, presently the little knot of people in the street was augmented by a woman, fully and rather over luxuriously children, and her own heart recognizes and responds to those instincts—then the blades strike deep. For not only genius, but opportunity as well, the age in which she lives, has made of her two women—one who is willing and the other who refuses to be submerged. And Olivia's struggle is typical of what life means in this modern time for a woman possessing any sort of high gift.

Mrs. Austin tells the story brilliantly, with a rich, deep knowledge of human nature and with an individuality in her mode of looking at things that affords the reader a delightful surprise.

Her imagination runs on swift, dramatic feet, and enables her to create, now and then with a sureness-like touch, upon which her large outlook upon life and her concern with its deepest meanings give sanction. But she needs to beware lest it lead her into those cryptic ways which are a snare to the feet of the novelist who wishes to be read by any but the most intellectually select.

SOME VIEW OF LIFE.

Of course Mr. H. G. Wells has done a big thing in his recent book “Marriage,” though it gives us very much the same view of life that we found in “Aeroponics.” It is entertaining to know a little of the personality of a man, who has achieved such literary greatness in the past two years, and so it is with pleasure that one reads the impressions of a London editor, who recently visited Mrs. Wells.

He remarks how happy our modern philosophers are and that is optimistic to say the least.

Perhaps it is because they are so large in number, of action, that the most conspicuously successful of today are so gay.

Perhaps this is the reason that the most conspicuously successful of today are so gay.

Mr. Chesterton, Mrs. Shorthouse, Mrs. Wells are engaged straight in writing books that are fighting battles.

They are concerned not with literature but with life. They do not use words like artists, but like warlords, loving them not for their perfume, but because they hit hard.

Opal Setting Lost From Ring.

She wondered a bit at the incident and then entered the shop, not seeing as she turned a moving picture camera a few feet away from the shop entrance. So it was that Miss Winslow was in blissful ignorance of the fact that she had contributed some "real life" to a moving picture play.

When she had completed her purchases and had left the shop she discovered that she had lost the opal setting from her ring. She remembered she had caught the ring in the meshes of her shopping bag while in the shop, and so returned, hoping that she might find the stone. A search was made, but all to no avail.

As was the custom of this shop, the clerk made a note of the lost opal, together with the name and address of the loser, in the "lost and found" book.

All this happened a year ago. Miss Winslow finished her visit to Chicago and returned to her duties as telephone operator in Philadelphia. The film in which she unconsciously had a part was completed and reproductions of it sent out over the country late this spring. One of the films landed in Roswell, Chaves county, N. M.

Late one afternoon when James Herndon Morris rode his pinto into Roswell he little suspected what fate had in store for him. Here he was a man of 30, well educated, big like the land in which he lived, wealthy, and with the responsibility of 20,000 acres of the best grazing land along the Pecos on his hands. He had too much to do to think of falling in love, yet that was just the thing that was to befall him before the night was four hours old.

Morris made his purchases and after supper wandered into the showhouse just as the show started. He watched the picture idly as the plot was unraveled on the screen before him.

It did not particularly interest him nor did the "leading woman" arouse any excessive admiration. There was the usual attempt at "comics," with the "lead" having many difficulties in attempting to purchase a pair of slippers; with a great show of indignation she rushed from the shop followed by a clerk wildly waving the slippers.

Just as the people rushed from the store a third figure appeared on the screen. It was of a girl, petite, dark haired, and with perfectly molded features. She was apparently about 22. (Miss Winslow confessed to 23 years.) She seemed to smile right into Morris' eyes. It was for only a moment and then the scene changed, but in that moment the young rancher had been stricken by the little god of love as surely as if he had met the girl herself.

After the last audience had been dismissed Morris sought out the manager and asked the name and address of the firm manufacturing the film in which his vision had appeared.

Two days later he was on the train bound for the north. He was on the trail of his vision.

In Chicago the film manufacturers directed him to the store that had served as the "setting" for the play. A clerk remembered the taking of the pictures and recalled the incident of the lost opal. He would look up the address in the lost and found book.

Miss Helen Winslow Reads Notation.

He turned to the book. There it was: "Miss Helen Winslow, 121 Beacon street, second apartment. Lost opal setting from ring. Not found." Thus read the notation.

"As I remember now," said the clerk, "she was an awfully pretty girl, with dark hair and big brown eyes."

"That's her," said Morris. He was too excited to observe any rules of grammar.

The clerk wrote down the address and Morris again "struck the trail." He went directly to the address and told the whole story. He was in love with the girl whose picture he had seen, his intentions were honorable, he was amply able to take care of a wife, and he was a man of some standing in his community. All this he told to the motherly faced woman who admitted him to the apartment in Beacon street.

Morris also presented his credentials. These included letters from well known men in New Mexico and declared him to be a man above reproach.

But he was doomed to disappointment, temporarily at least. Miss Winslow lived in Philadelphia and had been merely a visitor in Chicago when she had stepped into the moving pictures.

Wants to Rush to Philadelphia.

It must have been the forlorn expression that came over Morris' face when he heard this doleful news that warmed the heart of the mistress of the house.

"Why, you poor man," she said sympathetically, "I know how badly you must feel and I only wish that I could help you. Maybe I can after all. Anyhow, you must stay with us for dinner tonight and we will see what can be done. Did you have any luncheon?" she demanded.

"No, ma'am: I did sort of neglect to eat. Fact is, I hadn't thought much about anything but finding Helen—I mean Miss Winslow. And I shall most certainly accept your invitation. Now you call it to my mind, I am hungry."

That night at dinner, after he had been introduced to the other members of the family, he recounted the story of his romance. The daughter of the house smiled as she heard his story, and to his amazement actually laughed aloud when he reached the climax of his fruitless search.

"O, but I know something just dandy," she exclaimed. "Mr. Morris, are you going to Philadelphia?"

"Tonight on the first train," declared that young man, with a "do or die" light in his gray eye that sent the young woman into peals of laughter.

"Please wait until tomorrow night and take dinner with us before you go," she said.

"You'll be awfully sorry if you don't."

He Meets "the" Girl.

What is a man to do when a pretty girl makes such a request? There is only one answer. Morris agreed to remain over, though a bit reluctantly, it must be confessed.

"I am so glad you decided to stay another day," said his tormentor as she admitted him to the apartment the next evening. "You were wiser than you thought." And as she led the way into the living room: "I want you to meet a dear friend of mine who arrived this morning for a visit. I got a letter from her yesterday saying she would be in Chicago this morning."

As Morris entered the room he glanced past that of a girl who had been sitting in a chair near the window. Morris stopped and his hand went to his eyes as if he were awakening from a dream. But it was no dream voice that said: "Helen, I want you to meet my friend Mr. Morris. Mr. Morris, Miss Helen Winslow. There, now, didn't I tell you not to go to Philadelphia?"

Of course the result was inevitable. What girl could resist the impetuous wooing that followed. For two weeks Morris showered the girl of his dreams with every attention. He put his heart and soul into the task and after many demure protestations she finally consented to become Mrs. James Herndon Morris.

On one point she remained firm, however. It was not to be an immediate wedding, as Morris had insisted. No; she would be married in her own home and not until fall, or Mr. Morris could go back to his "old ranch" alone.

The answer? That's easy. It will be an autumn wedding and will be held in Philadelphia.

OLD OPIE DILDOCK'S STORIES.

I was camping out in the wilds of Gingring one summer. One afternoon, while sitting in the shade of a mountain, I noticed several great hoop snakes coil past me with almost incredible speed. Having nothing else to do, I ran after them.

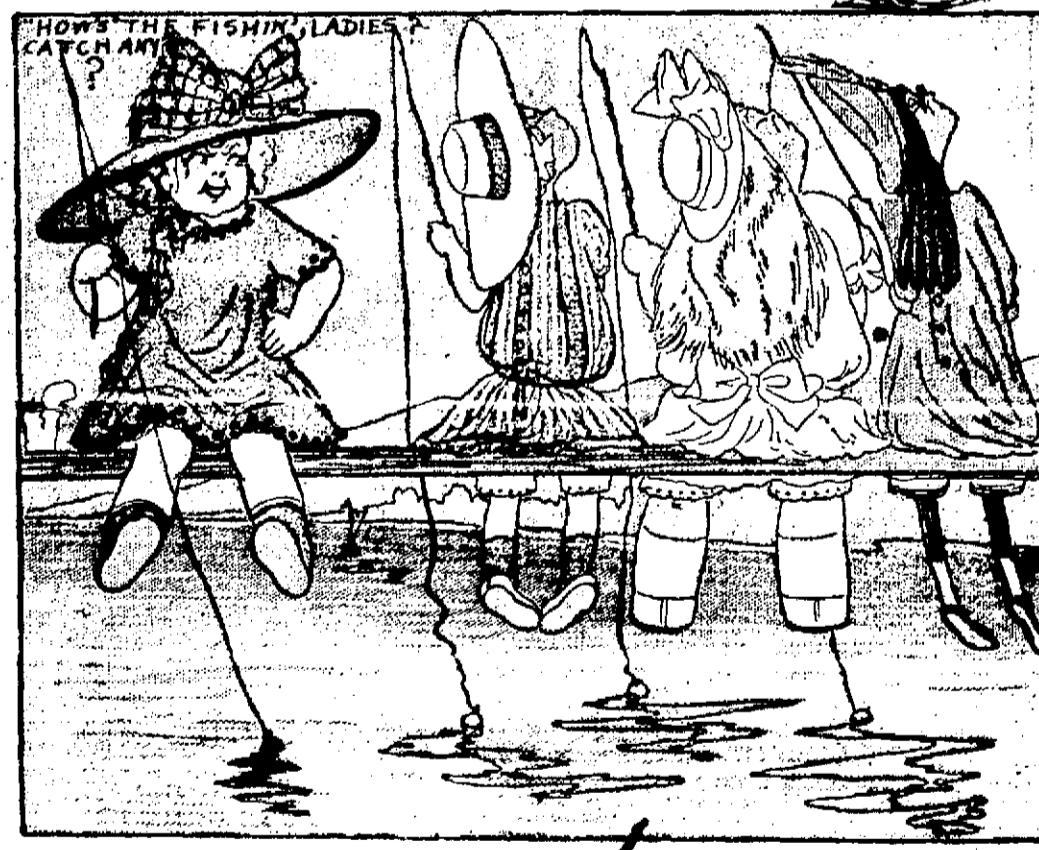

Grabbing the poles and buckskin thongs of a leanto which I had built, I caught the snakes and bound them together securely with the thongs. In the center of the hoop thus formed I suspended a serviceable hub, meanwhile keeping up a strenuous pace.

As I rode along I came upon a fellow driving a racing car at tremendous speed. "Race?" asked he. "Certainly," answered I, and away we flew, he opening up at full speed. Slowly and steadily I gained upon him until finally I whirled by.

One of his tires exploded. As he had several miles still to go, I threw one of the hoop snakes to him, instructing him how to fit it. Then I turned my snake machine about and, waving the driver farewell, hurried back to camp and fed the reptiles.
